PREFACE.

1169759

We have the direction by divine authority, through Moses, "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations; ask thy father and he will show thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee." Deut. xxxii, 7. Much interest has been taken, during the last thirty or forty years, in the collection and arrangement of Family Histories and Genealogies. As a result of these efforts there have been laid before the public many interesting compilations. Circumstances and events that must otherwise, in the natural order of things, soon have passed into oblivion, are thus placed on record, for the benefit of the present and future generations. From the events and occurrences of the past, it is the part of wisdom to derive instruction and guidance for the activities of the future.

Southern Book Co— $3.50

In this volume it is intended to give a history of Jasper Griffing, a native of Wales, who settled in Southold, Long Island, about two centuries ago, and of his descendants down to the present time so far as known.

Some of those who have borne the Griffing name have risen to eminence and distinction, gaining a worldwide reputation. Many more have "acted well their parts" in the humbler walks of life, and are equally entitled to our esteem and commendation.

The records and material for this work were collected by Miss Clara J. Stone [Number 494 of this volume]. She devoted her time for three or four years with much enthusiasm and energy to the accomplishment of the work, and to that end carried on an extensive correspondence with individuals in all parts of this country, and to some extent in Europe. In addition to what is here presented to the public, she collected much interesting matter in connection with representatives of the family, for which there is no room in this volume. When her collection and compilation were substantially completed, and the work was nearly ready for the press, she was suddenly stricken with disease, and died, after an illness of four days, on the 25th day of March, 1880.

Thanks are due to Dr. Alvan Talcott of Guilford, Ct., Miss Harriet Lord of Lyme, Ct., George B. Griffin of San Francisco, Cal., Mrs. C. G. Allen of Ravenswood, Augusta, Ga., Mrs. N. O. Randall of Yaphank, L. I., and others, for the valuable assistance rendered by them to Miss Stone in the collection of these records.

GUILFORD, CONN, August 1, 1881.

THE DESCENDANTS OF JASPER GRIFFING.

THE Gruffids of Welsh history are considered by many antiquarians of the present day as Griffings. A strong tradition has come down through all the lines that the last prince of Wales, Llewellyn ap Griffith ap Llewellyn, is the progenitor of all. A record connected with the Tower of London calls one of these a Griffing. The Virginia Griffings, who are descendants of Cyrus Griffing of the Provincial Congress, and are not of the Jasper line, have the same tradition.

Of the early history of Jasper Griffing very little is known. He was born in Wales about 1648, and came to this country when quite young. We have a slight notice of him in Essex Co., Mass., in 1670, when he is said to be twenty-one years of age. We have still another notice in Marblehead, Mass., in 1674. Soon after this date, and about 1675, he came, with a young wife named Hannah, to Southold, L. I., where he spent his subsequent life. The family name of his wife, Hannah, has not been ascertained. The inscription on her tombstone reads; "Here lyeth the body of Hannah Griffing, wife of Jasper Griffing, born at Manchester, New England," [Mass.?] "aged 46 years and eight months, and was the mother of eighteen children, and departed this life in Southold the 20th day of April, 1699." Jasper Griffing died at Southold, aged 70, April 17, 1718.

Of their "eighteen children," some of whom doubtless died in infancy, we have accounts of only four sons, Jasper, John, Edward, Robert, and a daughter, Susanna.

Respecting the orthography of the name there is a decided lack of uniformity. Jasper and his descendants at Southold, and also the Robert Griffing branch, of Guilford and other places, spell the name with the final "g," Griffing. Other branches as uniformly omit the final "g," and spell the name Griffin. But all these are, without doubt, descendants of the same ancestor, Jasper Griffing of Southold. For the sake of uniformity the names of all his descendants are given in this volume in his orthography, Griffing.

I.

Jasper Griffing, born 1648, married Hannah ——, of Manchester, New England, who was born 1653 and died 1699; Jasper died 17 April, 1718.

CHILDREN:

2. Jasper Griffing,[2] b. about 1675.
3. John Griffing,[2] b. probably a year or two later.
4. Edward Griffing,[2] b. ——
5. Susanna Griffing,[2] b, ——
6. Robert Griffing.[2] b. 1685.

2d GENERATION.

Jasper Griffing, Jun., probably eldest son of Jasper Griffing of Southold (1) and Hannah, his wife; married, 29 April, 1696, Ruth Peck, born 19 August, 1676, daughter of Joseph Peck of Lyme, Ct., and Sarah, his wife. In Lyme all the children of Joseph and Sarah Peck were born. [This Joseph Peck was the son of Deacon Wm. Peck of New Haven, who was born in England, 1603.] It is said in "Griffin's Journal," that Jasper Griffing, Jun., purchased a tract of land in Lyme and settled there. By reference to "Southold Index of 1698," by Chas B. Moore, Esq., we find a note of Jasper, at the time of his father's death, 1718, where he is spoken of as a son and heir reciting his father's will, etc., and at the same time disposing of his possessions at Southold to his brother Edward Griffing.

It is also said in the "Journal" that he lived to be more than 90 years old, but the date of his death does not appear.

CHILDREN:

7. Jasper Griffing, 3d,[3] b. 28 Jany., 1698.
8. Hannah Griffing,[3] b. 1700. Nothing further found.
9. Lemuel Griffing,[3] b. ——
10. Nathan Griffing,[3] b. ——. Nothing further found.
11. Joseph Griffing,[3] b. ——. Nothing further found.

3.

John Griffing, son of Jasper Griffing of Southold (1) and Hannah, his wife, probably died 1714 or 1715. Dates of birth and marriage not found.

CHILDREN:

12. John Griffing,[3] Jun., b. 1710.
13. Deborah Griffing,[3] } These joined the Church at Acquebogue, 24
14. Phœbe Griffing,[3] } April, 1768. Nothing further.

4.

Edward Griffing, son of Jasper Griffing (1) and Hannah, his wife, married, 1st, Irene ——, who died 8 Nov., 1716; 2d, Sarah Meaker, on the 1 Oct., 1717. Nothing further found.

5.

Susanna Griffing, daughter of Jasper Griffing (1) and Hannah, his wife, married 4 Oct., 1704, Joseph Peck, Jun., born 20 March, 1680, son of Joseph and Sarah Peck of Lyme, Ct. Probably the name of the children of this union are recorded in the "History of the Descendants of Wm. Peck of New Haven," by Judge Darius Peck of Hudson, N. Y. None are found in the records of the Griffings. Joseph and Susanna Peck lived at Lyme, Ct.

6.

Robert Griffing, born 1685, son of Jasper Griffing (1) and Hannah, his wife, was born at his father's homestead "at the foot of town harbor lane" leading from the main street to the harbor. He married about 1708 Lydia Kirkland, born 11 Oct., 1685, daughter of Lieut. John Kirkland of Saybrook, Ct., and Lydia (Pratt) Kirkland, daughter of Lieut. Wm. Pratt, also of Saybrook. It is said of Robt. Griffing that he was "a man of most agreeable conversation and greatly beloved."

Although Robert was the fourth son yet we find him at last in possession of the homestead, and it seemed to come about in this way: As Jasper, Jun., had removed to Lyme, Ct., a deed of sale was executed 1 June, 1718, about two months after his father's death, by which Jasper of Lyme transferred all the real estate he owned to his brother Edward. The same year we find that Edward and Sarah (Meaker) Griffing gave a deed of the homestead and lands he possessed at Southold to his brother Robert. Again referring to "Griffin's Journal:" "Where Edward settled, what family he had, how long he lived, we are not able to say. So Robert settled down on his father's estate and homestead on the pleasant banks of Peconic Bay, at Southold Harbor." Besides cultivating his patrimonial land at Hallock's Neck and the islands near by.

We find incidentally that in 1725 Robert Griffing kept an "Inn," that dernier resort of so many of our ancestors who came to do, and finding a sterile soil did whatever was honest to eke out an independent living. Robert Griffing died at the homestead 28 March, 1729. His wife Lydia made a second marriage with Joseph Conkling of Southold, who died 1740; she died in 1742.

CHILDREN:

15. Lydia Griffing,[3] b. early part 1709; d. 2 April, 1718.
16. Samuel Griffing,[3] b. 25 Sept., 1710, O. S.
17. Elizabeth Griffing,[3] b. ——
18. William Griffing,[3] b. 1715 (about).
19. John Griffing,[3] b. 1717 (about).
20. Robert Griffing,[3] b. 1720 (about).
21. Jasper Griffing,[3] b. 7 March, 1722, O. S.

3d GENERATION.

7.

Jasper Griffing, 3d, born 28 Jany., 1698, son of Jasper Griffing (2) and Ruth (Peck) Griffing, married 7 Jany., 1725, Mary Reed, probably of Lyme. He died 1783, and doubtless lies buried in the burying ground of North Lyme.

CHILDREN:

22. Jasper Griffing, 4th,[4] b. 3 Oct., 1725; d. 10 Dec., 1725.
23. Jasper Griffing,[4] b. 10 Dec., 1726.
24. Mary Griffing,[4] b. 22 Nov., 1728; d. 2 Sept., 1738.
25. Ruth Griffing,[4] b. 29 Oct., 1730; d. 19 Aug., 1738.
26. John Griffing,[4] b. 10 Jany., 1733; d. 10 April, 1737.
27. Deborah Griffing,[4] b. 7 Feby., 1735; d. 19 Sept., 1738.
28. John Griffing,[4] b. 16 May, 1737. Nothing more found.
29. Abner Griffing,[4] b. 29 March, 1741. Nothing more found.

Lemuel Griffing, born about 1704, son of Jasper Griffing (2) and Ruth (Peck) Griffing, married (date not found) Phœbe Comstock. She is said to have been a "woman of rare grace and artistic taste."

CHILDREN:

30. George Griffing,[4] b. 10 July, 1734, at East Haddam, Ct.
31. Lemuel Griffing,[4] b. ——, at East Haddam, Ct.

12.

John Griffing, Jun., born 1710, son of John Griffing (3), an early settler of what is now Riverhead, L. I., married, 13 Feby., 1735, Sarah Paine (probably sister of Alsop Paine), born 1716, and died 12 Sept., 1761. He married as second wife Anna Sweezey, daughter of Richard and Abiah Sweezey of Riverhead.

John Griffing with his family removed during the war of the Revolution to Lyme or Middletown, Ct., it is not known which. He died while in exile, and tradition says at Guilford, Conn., and was buried there. Anna Griffing united with the Church at Upper Acquebogue 18 Feby., 1767; her husband with same Church 10 April, 1767. She died 3 Jany., 1803.

CHILDREN BY FIRST WIFE:

32. Prudence Griffing,[4] b. 1735.
33. John Griffing,[4] b. 1737.
34. Sarah Griffing,[4] b. 1739; d. young.
35. Anna Griffing,[4] b. 1741.
36. Sarah Griffing,[4] b. 1744; d. 1761.
37. James Griffing,[4] b. 1746.
38. Mehitable Griffing,[4] b. 1748.
39. Nathaniel Griffing,[4] b. 1750.
40. Thankful Griffing,[4] b. 1752.
41. Stephen Griffing,[4] b. 1754.
42. Joseph Griffing,[4] b. 1756.
43. Mary Griffing,[4] b. 1758.
44. Jasper Griffing,[4] b. 1760. Lost at sea; died single.

BY SECOND WIFE:

45. Infant, died without a name.
46. Infant, died without a name.
47. Infant, died without a name.
48. Infant, died without a name.
49. William Griffing,[4] b. 1770.
50. Bartlett Griffing,[4] b. 1773.
51. David Griffing,[4] b. 1775.
52. Anna Griffing,[4] b. 1777.

16.

Samuel Griffing, born 25 Sept., 1710, O. S., son of Robert Griffing (6) and Lydia (Kirkland) Griffing, married, 1732, Elizabeth Landon, born 14 June, 1710, O. S., daughter of Nathan Landon of Southold, who came from Herefordshire, England; born 1664; came to America; married; and died at Southold 1718, aged 54 years.

Samuel Griffing was but nineteen years of age when his father died, and we find him soon after this event as eldest son in possession of the homestead, assuming charge of the family and the guardianship of his youngest brother Jasper, who was at his father's death but seven years old. The mother, Lydia (Kirkland) Griffing, married, 1732, a second husband.

Elizabeth (Landon) Griffing was the mother of thirteen children, eleven of whom survived her. The entry in the family Bible, made by her husband at the time of her death, reads thus: "Aug. 19, 1755, departed this life my own wife, Elizabeth." He married as second wife, 25 May, 1756, Martha Vaill, by whom he had four children.

In the large family which Samuel Griffing reared, there was the most marked loyalty to parents, and the most devoted love preserved between the numerous brothers and sisters even to old age. The grandmother of the writer always prefaced everyone of these, to her, precious household names, with "brother," "sister," down to her dying day. The father's was an iron will, as was wont in those Puritan days; but there was perfect love and veneration for him notwithstanding. The step-mother, too, filled in a wonderful way the place of the beloved Elizabeth Landon, and the writer knows, by her own remembrance, that no two sisters ever loved one another more fondly than the step-sisters who both married in Guilford.

In the autumn of 1776, as the British were taking possession of Long Island, many families fled panic-struck at their approach, and left their homesteads to the mercy of the invaders. Hon. Ezra L'Hommedieu and Samuel Griffing, whose houses stood not more than thirty rods apart, and who were closely attached by ties of neighborhood and friendship, both left with their immediate families for Connecticut.

By reference to the incidents of Jasper Griffing's life in a succeeding page, it will be seen that he had settled down in the town of Guilford, Ct., some thirty years previous to this; had become a prosperous citizen, owning houses and lands; and more, had just completed the purchase of the Whitfield House, or Stone House as it is called in common parlance to this day, and in this house our exile, with his wife, two daughters and two sons, found a home for a year or more. By this time a farm was found to his liking and purchased in the town of Branford, but a few miles west of Guilford, to which he soon removed. In 1787 his two daughters, Elizabeth and Mary, both married and settled in Guilford. Solomon Stone, a descendant of John Stone from England, marrying Elizabeth, and Medad Stone, a descendant of William Stone (John's brother) from England, marrying Mary.

Samuel Griffing died 1789; Martha (Vaill) Griffing died 1791.

CHILDREN BY FIRST WIFE:

53. Samuel Griffing,[4] b. 20 July, 1733.
54. Seth Griffing,[4] b. 12 Oct., 1734.
55. Daniel Griffing,[4] b. May, 1736.
56. Lydia Griffing,[4] b. 13 Nov., 1737; d. 1 Oct., 1754.
57. James Griffing,[4] b. 14 Oct., 1739.
58. Experience Griffing,[4] b. ——, 1741.
59. Peter Griffing,[4] b. 2 Sept., 1742.
60. David Griffing,[4] b. 1743; d. 11 Aug., 1763, at St. Johns, Antigua.
61. Moses Griffing,[4] b. 6 Sept., 1745.
62. Joshua Griffing,[4] b. 20 Aug., 1749; d. 15 Sept., 1771, at Cape May.
63. Aaron Griffing,[4] b. 15 Feby., 1752; d. 21 Oct., 1754.
64. Infant,[4] b. ——; lived but a few days.
65. Elizabeth Griffing,[4] b. 17 Feby., 1755.

BY SECOND WIFE:

66. Mary Griffing,[4] b. 20 April, 1758.
67. Parnal Griffing,[4] b. 1 Sept., 1759; d. 27 July, 1764.
68. Jared Griffing,[4] b. 16 June, 1762.
69. Aaron Griffing,[4] b. 10 June, 1764.

Samuel Griffing never returned to live in his Long Island home after he went to Connecticut—only returned to see his house a wreck, a "cannon planted in the window," and the like.

17.

Elizabeth Griffing (no date), daughter of Robert Griffing (6) and Lydia (Kirkland) Griffing, married (no date) Martin Bates of Hanover, New Jersey. The time of their deaths not found. Mrs. Bates is said to have died in Morristown, N. J.

CHILDREN:

70. Abigail Bates,[4] b. 1750.

71. Parnal Bates,[4] b. 2 Sept., 1751.

72. Norton Bates,[4] b. ——

It will be seen that in 1794 Parnal Bates married her first cousin, Timothy Griffing of Guilford, Conn. [No. 84]. Of Norton Bates nothing more is known but that he settled in Massachusetts, and was a most excellent man.

18.

William Griffing, born about 1715, son of Robert Griffing (6) and Lydia (Kirkland) Griffing, losing his father when a lad, left Long Island when young and went, according to "Griffin's Journal," first to New Jersey, afterward to Western Pennsylvania, where he became a clergyman, and where he died. No further account.

19.

John Griffing, born about 1717, son of Robert Griffing (6) and Lydia (Kirkland) Griffing, went, it is said, to Connecticut, but none of his descendants have as yet been found.

20.

Deacon Robert Griffing, born about 1720, son of Robert Griffing (6) and Lydia (Kirkland) Griffing, removed when a young man to Guilford, Ct., where he married, 25 Aug., 1744, Rhoda Parmele, daughter of Daniel Parmele and Widow Anna (Ward) Rossiter. She died 11 Oct., 1767. About this time he removed to North Guilford, where, 15 Aug., 1770, he married Sarah Fowler, who died 28 March, 1785. He married as third wife Elizabeth Baldwin.

Deacon Griffing died in North Guilford 6 Dec., 1796. His home while in Guilford was on the north side of Guilford Green, in the so-called "two-chimneyed red house," lately removed.

CHILDREN:

73. Robert Griffing,[4] b. 25 July, 1745; d. 18 Nov., 1765.
74. Rossiter Griffing,[4] b. 26 Dec., 1746; m. —— Lyons; went South.
75. Lydia Griffing,[4] b. 6 Jany., 1748.
76. Rachel Griffing,[4] b. 8 Nov., 1750; m. 18 May, 1772, David Parks, probably of North Guilford.
77. Kirkland Griffing,[4] b. 23 Oct., 1752.
78. Billy Griffing,[4] b. 15 Aug., 1755; d. 26 Aug., 1756.
79. William Griffing,[4] b. 15 June, 1757.
80. Marcia Griffing,[4] b. 10 July, 1760; m. John Adkins.

Jasper Griffing, born 7 March, 1722, O. S., son of Robert Griffing (6) and Lydia (Kirkland) Griffing, married, 14 Jany., 1746, Mindwell Stone, born 22 Sept., 1720, daughter of Serjeant Joseph and Mary (Scranton) Stone of Guilford, Ct. Mindwell Griffing died 22 April, 1760. He married second, about 1761, Rachel Lee, born 23 Feby., 1727, daughter of Ebenezer and Sarah (Chidsey) Lee. Jasper Griffing died at Guilford 1 Nov., 1800. Rachel Lee, his wife, died 4 March, 1811, aged 84 years.

The early life of Jasper Griffing was an eventful one. As we have seen, his father died when he was a little child; at fifteen or sixteen he seems to have become a sailor, going to the West Indies, &c. When about twenty-three years of age he was impressed into Commodore Warren's fleet, then lying at New York. Tradition hath it that intercession was made by the relatives, to the Commodore for his release, through Samuel Landon, Esq., the brother of Mrs. Samuel Griffing of Southold, and that a promise was made that he should be returned in the pilot-boat from Sandy Hook, a promise that was not kept. But the reader is here referred to notes from the Journal of Rev. Henry Robinson of Guilford, who writes as follows:

"On the 10th Aug., 1837, when I was at the house of Mr. Russell Griffing, in Richmond, Mass., the following story was told me by Mr. G. respecting his father, Capt. Jasper Griffing: In the year

1745, when young Griffing was about 23, he was pressed on board Com. Warren's fleet at New York, together with a number of others. Through the entreaty of friends, Griffing was promised by the Commodore that he should be set ashore at Sandy Hook, but the promise was disregarded. Afterwards, while on the West India Station, he, with two others, deserted, swam ashore in the night, and soon got on board an American vessel. Not long after the English fleet hove in sight, and a boat was sent alongside of the American vessel with an officer, who at once recognized the deserters. They were taken on board the Commodore's ship and condemned to be hung. On the morning of the fatal day, Griffing summoned up courage to write a note to the Commodore to this effect; that if the Commodore had been as good as his word he (Griffing) should not be hung that day. Immediately after they were ordered to be brought forth to execution. Griffing fell on his knees and pleaded for his life. The Commodore asked him what he meant by sending him such a note. He replied that he had written nothing but the truth, that it was promised he should be set ashore or sent back by the pilot-boat to New York. On being asked if he could show proof of this, he referred to an American lieutenant on board, who confirmed the truth of his story. The Commodore then asked him if he would swear—on his knees—to be true to his sovereign, and serve him faithfully in the future in case his life was spared, to which he gladly assented, and was discharged, while the other two were swung from the yard-arm." It is well known that during the war called in America "King George's War"—which took place between 1744 and 1748—Com. Warren, in 1745, received orders from England to co-operate with the land forces from the New England colonies in the attempt to take Louisburg, on the island of Cape Breton. A company of men commanded by Col. Andrew Ward went from Guilford, Ct. Jasper Griffing's brother Robert from Southold was already settled in this place, and he (Robert) requested Col. Ward to look for his brother. Col. Ward made inquiries among the sailors as he met them, found the very man, and devised at once a way of escape for him. After his escape the Colonel had him dressed as a "countryman soldier, without uniform and with a flapped hat." In this disguise he soon met an officer who, with his glass, was making observations upon the works of the enemy. The officer called upon our friend to steady his glass for him, which he did but without discovery. It was so managed that he was sent to the hospital as a sick soldier, and finally to Boston on the sick list, whence he came to Guilford, and soon marrying Mindwell Stone, settled down and ultimately became one of its wealthiest citizens. On account of his hairbreadth escapes from Commodore Warren's fleet, he was in his lifetime and ever after called "The Commodore."

In an historic letter written by Mr. Jared Griffing in 1839, he says: "My uncle Jasper told me that he sat on the main top-gallant truck of Warren's ship when it entered the harbor of Louisburg under the fire of the French."

[An item of historical interest may be added here, viz.: That Jasper Griffing became, by purchase in 1776, the fifth owner of the "Old Stone House," still standing and in fine condition in Guilford. It was built by the first settlers about 1640; was owned and occupied by Rev. Henry Whitfield of historic memory. Rev. Mr. Whitfield returned to England about 1651, and sold it to Major Robert Thompson of London, in 1659. All the Whitfield land was acknowledged by letters from his brother, Nathaniel Whitfield of London, 20 Sept., 1659. Wyllis Elliott of Guilford bought the house in 1772; Thomas Pyncheon of Guilford in 1772; and Jasper Griffing bought it of him in 1776. From him it descended to his son Judge Nathaniel Griffing; at the death of his widow, Mrs. Sarah (Brown) Griffing, in 1865, it came to their only remaining child, Mrs. H. W. Chittenden, and at her death, in 1878, her only child, Mrs. Sarah B. Cone of Stockbridge, Mass., became the possessor of it.]

CHILDREN BY FIRST WIFE:

George Griffing, born 10 July, 1734, son of Lemuel Griffing (9) and Phœbe (Comstock) Griffing, married, 9 March, 1762, Eve Dorr, born 4 March, 1733, daughter of Edmund Dorr.*

* Edmund Dorr was born at Roxbury, Mass., 16 Oct., 1692, settled at Lyme, Ct., and married, 4 Sept., 1719, Mary Griswold, daughter of Matthew and Phœbe (Hyde) Griswold, daughter of Samuel and Jane (Lee) Hyde of Norwich, Ct. Edmund Dorr was sixth son of Edward and Elizabeth (Hawley) Dorr of Roxbury. This Edward

"George Griffing was a man of strong mental ability, of rare judgment, and decided character, one who could command his children and his household after him. He endeavored to develop the mental powers of his children by giving them subjects to write upon, and not infrequently required from them poetical effusions. I well remember the dreaded ordeal I sometimes passed in my early childhood in his critical examinations of my progress in my studies." Sprague's Memoirs of Rev. E. D. Griffing.

Eve (Dorr) Griffing died 3 April, 1814. George Griffing died 6 Aug., 1814.

CHILDREN:

99. Mary Griffing,[5] b. 15 June, 1763.
100. Livia Griffing,[5] b. 12 Oct., 1764.
101. Josiah Griffing,[5] b. 7 June, 1766.
102. Phœbe Griffing,[5] b. 4 May, 1768.
103. Edward Dorr Griffing,[5] b. 6 Jany., 1770.
104. Lucy Griffing,[5] b. 21 March, 1773.
105. Elizabeth Griffing,[5] b. 23 Feby., 1775.
106. George Griffing,[5] b. 14 Jany., 1778.

31.

Lemuel Griffing, Jun., son of Lemuel Griffing (9) and Phœbe (Comstock) Griffing, married, probably about 1764, Lydia Wiley.

Dorr is supposed to be the progenitor of all the Dorrs of New England. He came to this country from the west of England, was born in 1648, and came here about 1670, and settled at Boston. He married his first wife, Elizabeth Hawley, previous to 1680. They removed to Roxbury where she died; he died in 1734. One son, Rev. Joseph Dorr, born 1690, graduated at Harvard 1711, was settled as a minister at Meriden, Ct., in 1716, and died 9 March, 1768. Another son, Edmund, married Mary Griswold as above. Harbottle Dorr, born 11 May, 1696, married Dorothy Weld, and settled at Boston. A daughter Elizabeth, born 1698, married James Scott of Boston. Another daughter, Clemence, born 17 July, 1700, married Edmund Weld of Roxbury. Edmund Dorr and Mary (Griswold) Dorr settled at Lyme, where he carried on the business of clothier or cloth dresser. He was a man of mind and indomitable perseverance. During a persistent ecclesiastical controversy which he and a few other members of the church maintained with Rev. Jonathan Parsons, third minister of Lyme, he obtained the sobriquet of "Servant Dorr," which he retained for life. He died at Lyme, date not ascertained.

The dates of birth and death of Lemuel Griffing not found. It is known that there were seven sons, but of only one, A. W. Griffing, has any record been found.

(12) of Riverhead and Sarah (Paine) Griffing, married Dr. —— Hinchman of New Jersey.

CHILD:

123. —— Hinchman,[5] connected with Great Western Railroad.

37.

James Griffing, born 1746, son of John Griffing, Jun., (12) and Sarah (Paine) Griffing, married, about 1769, Nancy Overton, born ——, daughter of —— Overton of Southold, Suffolk Co., N. Y., and Deborah (Pritain) Overton. Mrs. Griffing is said to have been eminent for her piety. She died 1784. He married as second wife Charity Topping, born 18 April, 1764, who outlived him, and married as second husband Mordecai Homan of Middle Island, Suffolk Co., N. Y. Mrs. Charity (Topping) Griffing Homan died 21 June, 1838. James Griffing died about 1791.

CHILDREN BY FIRST WIFE:

40.

Thankful Griffing, born 1752, daughter of John Griffing, Jun., (12) and Sarah (Paine) Griffing, married Peter Vaill of Riverhead, son of Peter and Martha (Terry) Vaill. [This Peter Vaill was the son of Peter Vaill, Senior, who was the son of Jeremiah Vaill, who was the son of Jeremiah Vaill, Jun., who was the son of Jeremiah Vaill, the emigrant.] What we know of this woman leads us to wish we knew more. Tall and graceful in her carriage, kind and loving to her kindred, tender and yet strong minded—as a mother—she reared in widowhood, with but limited means her nine children in honor and respectability.

Stephen Griffing, born 1754, son of John Griffing, Jun., (12) and Sarah (Paine) Griffing, married Betsey Youle, and removed to Staatsburg, N. Y.

Names of children not obtained.

42.

Joseph Griffing, born 1756, son of John Griffing, Jun., (12) and Sarah (Paine) Griffing, married at the age of 24 years Ruth Hart, daughter of Rev. Joshua Hart, a Presbyterian clergyman of Huntington, Suffolk Co., N. Y. Not long after his marriage he removed to Guilford, Conn. For a time he was captain of a trading vessel between this latter place and New York. For some years he had charge of the lighthouse on Falkner's Island, in Long Island Sound, about five miles from Guilford. But as remembered by the writer, he lived a quiet life in his advanced years at his very pleasant home on the west side of Guilford Green, a quaint but lovely house, with its tasteful adornments of the olden time. "Aunt Ruth," its mistress, quaint, too, but dignified and ladylike, as became her antecedents. "Uncle Jo" was more than six feet in height, well-proportioned, with the carriage of a prince. One who looked upon the pageant in London, at the coronation of William the Fourth, was asked how he looked. "Like Uncle Jo Griffing," was the quick reply. At the age of about eighty-three he lost his wife; his sons were all dead; his only daughter married and living in another State. He wished to return to the home of his youth. On the 23 April, 1839, he left Guilford and found a quiet resting-place among his kindred near Riverhead. Tender hands ministered to him as he neared the end of life; and while on a round of yearly visits to his relatives he was seized with his last illness at Riverhead in February, 1843. "With an unshaken faith in Gospel truths" he sent loving farewells to distant friends, with the message—"I am going to the Saviour I love."

49.

William Griffing, born 18 March, 1770, son of John Griffing, Jun., (12) and Anna (Sweezey) Griffing, married Bethia Wells, born 23 Sept., 1772.

The site of what is now known as Griffing's Hotel, Griffing Avenue, Riverhead, seems for many years to have been in his family. Mr. Griffing died 16 Oct., 1848. His wife died Oct. 13, 1849.

CHILDREN:

158. Bethia Griffing,[5] b. 3 Sept., 1790.
159. Hubbard Griffing,[5] b. 7 Nov., 1792.
160. Ann Griffing,[5] b. 5 April, 1794, m. —— Albertson, of Riverhead.

165. Betsey Griffing,[5] b. 30 Sept., 1806; m. —— Penny.

50.

Deacon Bartlett Griffing, born 1773, son of John Griffing, Jun., (12) and Anna (Sweezey) Griffing, married Mehitable Terry, who died 4 March, 1809. He married as second wife Mehitable Howell. This Bartlett Griffing, as well as Wm. Griffing, his elder brother, and other brothers, perhaps, as well as those who were by intermarriage connected with the family, seem to have exerted a strong and permanent influence in raising the village of Riverhead to its present flourishing condition. Bartlett Griffing died 26 July, 1855. His wife, Mehitable (Howell) Griffing, died 17 Nov., 1858.

CHILDREN BY FIRST WIFE:

Capt. Samuel Griffing, born 20 July, 1733, son of Samuel Griffing (16) of Southold, Suffolk Co., N. Y., and Elizabeth (Landon) Griffing, married, 20 Nov., 1762, Bethia Horton, probably daughter of Jonathan Horton, Jun., and great-granddaughter of Barnabas Horton, one of the earliest settlers of Southold.

Samuel Griffing was captain of a merchantman, and died at Martinico, West Indies, date of death not found. He left no children.

54.

Capt. Seth Griffing, born 12 Oct., 1734, son of Samuel Griffing (16) and Elizabeth (Landon) Griffing, married, 10 Jany., 1764, Anna Peck, probably descendant of Deac. Wm. Peck of New Haven, Ct. "Seth Griffing was for many years captain of different fine vessels in the merchant service to the West Indies, and died on a return passage to New York, 9 April, 1788, aged 54 years."

CHILDREN:

179. John Stuart Griffing,[5] bapt. at Southold 16 Feby., 1772; d. early.
180. John Griffing,[5] bapt. at Southold 27 Aug., 1776.

182. Polly Griffing,[5] b. 1780.
183. Wm. Hubbard Griffing,[5] b. 17 Oct., 1782, at Killingworth, Ct.
184. Joseph Griffing,[5] bapt. at Southold 19 June, 1786.

55.

Capt. Daniel Griffing, born 12 May, 1736, son of Samuel Griffing (16) and Elizabeth (Landon) Griffing, was at the early age of twenty in the French war. In 1759 he became a lieutenant in Capt. Barnabas Tuthill's company of Suffolk Co., N. Y.; in 1760 a captain of 36 men; in 1762 a captain of a full company.

He married, 1758, Martha, (called Patty) Case, born 13 June, 1737, of the old Case family of Southold. Soon after the battle of Lexington we find Daniel Griffing in the Continental army, a commissioned captain of a company numbering 76 men or more. From his "Orderly Book," now lying by the writer, it is found that an account was opened with them as early as August, 1775, and perhaps earlier. We find him indebted to his father—Samuel Griffing—for twenty-eight stands of arms; an entry made in the book, dated 9 July, 1776, speaks of a payment made to his father of £47 5s., etc., for said arms; and again, 11 July, 1776, another of £12, used probably in the service. In the "Orderly Book" above we find him mentioned, under date of 25 Aug., 1776, as Capt. Daniel Griffing, of 2d Regt., New York forces, commanded by Col. James Clinton (afterward Gen. Clinton), the father of De Witt Clinton. In the Fall of 1775 he was at Ticonderoga, Albany, etc. On one page is to be seen a receipt of full payment to his men, including billet, blanket, and other moneys, up to 1 Aug., 1776, every man signing the receipt with his own hand. Seventy-six signatures, some of the names most strangely written, and as strangely spelt. The last entry in the book is dated Fort Montgomery, 1 Jany., 1777, and is a payment acknowledged by Joseph Conkling. About this time Capt. Griffing seems to have left the army. Falling back upon tradition, he is said to have sailed in the "Randolph"—a privateer fitted out at one of our ports—accompanied by his brother-in-law, Capt. Augustus Peck, who, by this time, with his family was settled at Killingworth, Conn. It is said they were very successful in obtaining prizes, and stored what they obtained at New London, Ct. But, alas for them! their riches disappeared on that day when the plundering expedition, under Benedict Arnold, set on fire and burned New London, 6 Sept., 1781. Just about this time we find Capt. Griffing making a new home for his family on one of the several hills near Saybrook, Ct., accompanied by a Mr. L'Hommedieu (perhaps a brother or nephew of the Hon. Ezra L'Hommedieu, who had made himself so efficient a helper in the provincial cause on Long Island and in the Councils of New York). He was the boy friend and schoolmate of the subject of this paper, and through him Capt. Griffing probably received his commission in the army. As far as is now ascertained, Captain Griffing received next to no consideration from the Government in after years, and now, at fifty years of age, he was left penniless. He left his home on the hill and retired to the seashore. The name given to the spot was "Waterside," and there, as a recluse, he spent the remainder of his days; as one who as a boy knew him now says, "A man of great ability in a constrained place." His bearing was such that it is said the young looked upon him with great awe. The death of this old revolutionary officer took place 22 June, 1822, in his eighty-seventh year. Martha, his wife, died soon after in the same year.

James Griffing, born 14 October, 1739, son of Samuel Griffing (16) and Elizabeth (Landon) Griffing of Southold, married, 1764, Deziah Terry, born February, 1746, daughter of Jonathan and Lydia (Tuthill) Terry of Oysterponds, now Orient, Suffolk Co., New York. He held a commission in the war of the Revolution for about two years, then retired to Southold, and for a time, at the request of Hon. Ezra L'Hommedieu, occupied his deserted mansion, taking the charge of his place and that of his father (Samuel Griffing) near by, who had left his homestead and gone to Connecticut with a portion of his family. As the British were quartered in his vicinity, he suffered untold indignities from them, as well as from the violent tories in the same neighborhood. His life was frequently in danger, and often he would be obliged to leave his family for days together, and hide himself from his enemies as best he might. Many of his escapes from the British were almost miraculous, so much so that his wife, who was eminently pious, would say: "They that be for us are more than they that be against us." On the occasion of Mrs. Griffing's death, her son, Augustus Griffing, made an entry in his "Journal" (p. 99) full of words of affection for her as daughter, wife, mother, and neighbor; and about the same time Wm. L. Hudson, Esq., Capt. in U. S. Navy, in one of the New York papers paid a beautiful tribute to her memory [see Journal, p. 100]. She died 14 November, 1814. James Griffing died 10 December, 1824.

Capt. Peter Griffing, born 2 Sept., 1742, son of Samuel Griffing (16) and Elizabeth (Landon) Griffing, married, ——, Patience Tabor, daughter of Amon and Mary Tabor of Oysterponds, now Orient, N. Y. "He owned and was the captain of a sailing vessel before the Revolutionary war, from which he realized a good support; trading probably from port to port on the island and with Connecticut." But after the war commenced great risks were incurred, and his position was a dangerous one. His escapes from the British cruisers, says a relative, were perfectly wonderful; and, what is more, we cannot but think, on reading of his adventures on the sea and on the shore, that he greatly enjoyed these escapades with the enemy. His old King's arm was as trusty a helper to him as was his "long rifle" to Leather Stocking.

He was one of the most noted marksmen of his day as well as a man of remarkable bravery. A younger brother of his (Jared) leaves this on record: "My brother Peter never found a man during the war that could excel him in close shooting." March 28, 1777, his vessel, "The Polly," was captured by the English sloop-of-war "Swan," Capt. Ayscough, commander. But our brave friend and true patriot was not idle. We will here quote from "Hinman's Collection of Public Records of Connecticut:" "2 Sept., 1777. A commission was given by the Governor to Peter Griffing as a captain of a company of rangers to guard the seacoast, sound, and islands on the coast of this State, to make prisoners of such as he should take in arms against the State. Instructions were given said Griffing," etc. His young brother Jared (before mentioned) says of him after this appointment: "I was with him in action, and it was observed when he fired one of the enemy was sure to fall. We were volunteers at New Haven when the British took and burned the city, 5 July, 1779. We took six grenadiers and eleven stands of arms, and drove them off the ground until they were re-enforced, when we in turn retreated. My poor brother Peter fell into the hands of the enemy, and was put on board the prison-ship 'Jersey,' near New York City, where he died in 1781 or 1782. The enemy so well understood his ability in the use of fire-arms, that they would not exchange him for any one of equal rank as prisoner." After his death his widow made a second marriage with Judge —— Wells of Stonington, Conn.

Moses Griffing, born 6 Sept., 1745, son of Samuel Griffing (16) and Elizabeth (Landon) Griffing, like several of his elder brothers, early became a sailor, and ere he was twenty-five years of age we find him commanding a ship and trading with the West Indies. Two of his brothers had already found early graves in those islands, one in Martinico, one in Antigua. Capt. Griffing, about 1769 or 1770, had occasion to visit the New Jersey coast in the way of his business. At Beesley's Point, Cape May Co., he became acquainted with the Stillwell family, and with Miss Sarah Stillwell, who was to become his faithful and, as we shall see, heroic wife. She was born 13 Nov., 1753. Her father was Nicholas Stillwell, son of John Stillwell of Town Bank, a place not far distant. Nicholas Stillwell was a member of the Legislature of the Colony from 1769 to 1771. He purchased, in 1748, the plantation at Beesley's Point. After his death it fell to his son, Capt.

Nicholas Stillwell, who was afterward an efficient officer of the Revolution. Capt. Griffing was married to Sarah Stillwell about 1770. Her mother was Ruhamah (Hand) Stillwell. The Hands were among the earliest settlers of Cape May County. After marriage the home of this pair was for a little time in New Jersey; but ere long they removed to Philadelphia, Penn. From that place Capt. Griffing continued for many years to make voyages to distant ports. A Bible, containing much family record written by his own hand, is still preserved with great care by his granddaughter, Mrs. John W. Gandy of Cape May Court House. This Bible was his companion in his many voyages, and it is said by one of his descendants that more than forty times did he read it through. That he had an adventurous life we may rest assured, and on one occasion he was taken prisoner by the English and placed on the "infamous and murderous Jersey prison-ship," where the dying, the dead, and the famished were promiscuously huddled together. In connection with Capt. Griffing's imprisonment, we quote what follows from the "Early History of Cape May," by Dr. Maurice Beesley. He says: "The young Mrs. Griffing, actuated by a heroism which woman's love alone can inspire, bravely made her way through a most dangerous country swarming with enemies, romantically resolved to see and rescue her husband, or die in the attempt. The devoted wife called at the camp of Washington by the way, who gave her in charge an English captain to exchange. She reached New York in safety, and finally persuaded Sir Henry Clinton to release her husband. The exchange was made after a long and painful suspense, and the heroic wife enjoyed the happiness she deserved." Capt. Moses Griffing died in Philadelphia 7 July, 1802. Sarah (Stillwell) Griffing died in Philadelphia 13 May, 1804. Record below from the old Bible.

Elizabeth Griffing, born 17 February, 1755, was the third daughter and thirteenth child of Samuel Griffing (16) and Elizabeth (Landon) Griffing. When but five months old she lost her mother; her brothers were, some of them, at the time of her birth, stalwart men; and when at home tenderly did they care for this little one; and her love to them was ever of the most devoted kind. When she had reached the age of twenty years the war of the Revolution commenced. Many were the portents of evil to the patriotic citizens of Long Island. The battle near Brooklyn, on the 27 August, 1776, was disastrous to the Americans. But a short time elapsed ere the island was in full possession of the British. Her father had doubtless signed the paper with more than two hundred to support Congress. He had lent money with which to furnish stands of arms. He had a son already commissioned as captain of a company mostly composed of Suffolk Co. men; and, as a matter of safety, he must leave the island with his then small family for the safer shores of Connecticut. To leave her pleasant home on the banks of Peconic Bay, her much-loved garden-plot, all familiar surroundings, was hard for our grandmother. She lived over much of this time in her after life; hence there was an historic glow in the recital of bygone days which was wonderfully interesting to the young of her own family group. The father removed his family to Guilford in the fall of 1776. After a time he purchased and made a new home in Branford, and here she married, 5 August, 1787, Solomon Stone, born 23 October, 1740, son of Caleb and Rebecca (Evarts) Stone of Guilford. [Solomon Stone was son of Caleb Stone, Jun., b. 7 May, 1714, the son of Caleb Stone, Sen., b. 10 Nov., 1685, son of Lieut. Nathaniel Stone, b. 2 Feby, 1648, son of John Stone, from England. All of Guilford, Ct.] In this new home at Guilford she filled a large place; she brought up orphans, visited the sick and afflicted, fed the hungry, and ministered in all pleasant ways to the comfort of the townspeople, and was proverbially known as the good "Aunt Betsey." Solomon Stone, her husband, died 13 July, 1814. She lived to a good old age, dying in the same house to which she came as a bride in 1787. Her death took place 15 May, 1838.

Mary Griffing, born 20 April, 1758, was eldest child by second wife, Martha Vaill, of Samuel Griffing (16). With her father, mother, elder sister Elizabeth, and two younger brothers, she came to Connecticut in 1776. She was married 25 March, 1787, to Medad Stone of Guilford. [This Medad Stone was son of Dan'l Stone, son of Wm. Stone, 3d, son of Wm. Stone, Jun., son of Wm. Stone from England, who with his brother John were among the earliest settlers of Guilford, and were both signers with others of the so-called "Plantation Covenant."] Medad Stone was a man of prominence in the town, and a man of wealth. He died 17 Feby., 1815. His wife was of commanding appearance, and of great executive ability. She died 31 Dec., 1826.

CHILDREN:

226. Sally Johnson Stone,[5] b. 30 Oct., 1789.
227. Mary Stone,[5] b. (no record); d. young.

Jared Griffing, born 16 June, 1762, son of Samuel Griffing (16) and Martha (Vaill) Griffing, married ——— ——— ——— and died at Southold, May, 1844. It is to be regretted that the records of this son are very desultory, and yet the present writer has been indebted to old letters of his giving interesting reminiscences, coming to her hand in a most providential way. Of himself he says, in a letter dated June, 1839: "When young I went to sea, became a captain; afterward removed to the Mohawk country, near Utica, N. Y., where I held the office of Justice of the Peace 14 years, during which time I acquired a handsome property; but after a series of misfortunes my property was much reduced, and I removed to Southold, L. I., where I would be glad to see my friends and relatives. My trust is strong in the living God." He then gives the names of his living children, something as follows:

228. John Griffing.[5]
229. Edward Griffing.[5]
230. Mary Griffing;[5] m. Ezekiel Aldridge, of Upper Acquebogue.
231. Sally Griffing.[5]
232. Maria Griffing;[5] m. Rev. Jesse Hunt, a Methodist minister.

69.

Aaron Griffing, born 10 June, 1764, son of Samuel Griffing (16) and Martha (Vaill) Griffing, at about 13 years of age removed from L. I. with his parents. He was reared at Branford, and there he married Elizabeth—called Betty—Palmer, daughter of Ebenezer and Patience (Harrison) Palmer. The old family Bible met with an untimely fate, therefore no date of marriage. Betty Griffing died 1 March, 1838. Aaron Griffing died 21 Feby., 1842.

CHILDREN:

Abigail Bates, born 1750, daughter of Martin Bates and Elizabeth (Griffing) Bates (17), married, 28 July, 1777, as his 3d wife, Col. Adonijah Strong, a lawyer of Salisbury, Conn., a colonel of militia for a short time during the war, and afterwards a commissary general. Col. Strong was born at Coventry, Conn., and was the son of Noah and Lydia (Dart) Strong, and grandson of Preserved and Tabitha (Lee) Strong. Col. Strong died in Salisbury, 12 Feby., 1813. Mrs. Abigail Strong died 15 March, 1834, aged 84 years.

CHILDREN:

238. Judge Martin Strong,[5] b. 7 Dec., 1778; d. 28 Feby., 1838.
239. John Bates Strong,[5] b. 4 Oct., 1780; d. 23 Oct., 1825.
240. Rev. Wm. Lighthouse Strong,[5] b. 18 Oct., 1782; d. 31 Aug., 1859.
241. Rev. Henry Pierce Strong,[5] b. 23 Feby., 1785; d. 28 Aug., 1835.
242. Mary Strong,[5] b. 19 Oct., 1787; m. Rev Jonathan Lee; d. 24 Dec., 1863.
243. Sarah Pardee Strong,[5] b. 15 March, 1791; m. Jacob Chamberlain; d. 12 Feby., 1824.
244. Betsey Strong,[5] b. 30 Dec., 1794; m. Simeon Lyman; d. 28 Nov., 1843.

As the reader will easily call to mind the children of those named above, especially the children of Rev. Wm. L. Strong, as Chief Justice Wm. Strong, of Penn.; Rev. Edward Strong, of Roxbury, Mass.; of Mrs. Darling; of Mrs. Gaston, etc., and more especially as the record is continued in full in the "History of the Descendants of Elder John Strong of Northampton, Mass.," we will continue it no farther.

Kirkland Griffing, born 23 Oct., 1752, son of Deacon Robert Griffing (20) and Rhoda (Parmele) Griffing, went early to sea and had an adventurous career, which is only known by tradition and portions of old letters which we quote. As he finally settled at or near Utica, N. Y., it is to be supposed that he may have descendants in that part of the country, but as yet no clue to such has been found. Extract from a letter written by Jared Griffing, Esq., to his kinsman of the Willetts family in New Jersey, dated "Southold, L. I., June, 1839.":—"My uncle Robert Griffing lived and died in Guilford, Conn. He had two sons and three daughters." [On the Guilford record are the names of five sons, viz.: 1st, Robert, b. 1745, d. 1765; 2d, Rossiter, b. 1746, d. unknown, said to have married a Miss Lyons and gone South; 5th, Kirkland, b. 1752; 6th, Billy, b. 1755, d. 1756; 7th, William, b. 1757. Of the three daughters we can give the descendants of but one, Lydia, No. 75.—C. J. S.] "His sons Kirkland and Preston" [prob. William, then 22 yrs. old.—C. J. S.] "were taken prisoners in the Revolutionary war. They were officers on board a privateer from Providence, R. I., and were captured by the British man-of-war 'Nonesuch,' of 64 guns, commanded by Capt. Sam'l Griffing, who, they said, resembled our family. They were taken to England and imprisoned in the Mill Prison two years and ten months. While in prison as rebels they wrote to Sir John Griffing, who resided in Yorkshire, Sir John came to see them in a coach and six horses. He recognized them as a branch of his family, and told them that if they were imprisoned for debt he would be glad to release them, but as they were prisoners of war, and he belonged to the king's party, he could not interfere in their behalf. He gave them ten guineas, and told them if they wanted any more to write to him again. They kept a school while on parole afterwards, and the Methodists showed them great kindness, and they lived quite comfortably until released, and then they returned to New England." [This from the letter of my great-uncle Jared Griffing—a man of great veracity—for many years a resident of Herkimer Co., N. Y., afterwards, in his old age, at Southold, L. I.—C. J. S.] A quotation will now be made from the "Journal" of Augustus Griffin. He says: "The sons of Robert Griffing, Jun., were Rossitter, Kirkland, and William. Kirkland was roving; made several voyages to sea. He was with Paul Jones on the "Bon Homme Richard" in her masterly and bloody engagement in which he captured two English frigates, the 'Serapis' and another, Sept. 23, 1779. After the war of the Revolution, he settled in Clinton Co., N. Y., where, much respected, he lived to an advanced life."

Hon. Nathaniel Griffing, born 26 Jany., 1767, son of Jasper Griffing (21) and Rachel (Lee) Griffing, graduated at Yale College in 1786; married, 3 Nov., 1787, Sarah Brown, born 3 June, 1767, daughter of Samuel Brown of Guilford, Ct., and Hannah (Landon) Brown.*

[*Note 1.—Mrs. Griffing was descended from Nathan Landon and Barnabas Horton, two early settlers of Southold, L. I. Nathan Landon, the ancestor of the Southold Landons, came from Herefordshire, Wales, and died 1718, aged 54 years. His wife was Hannah ——, who died 26 Feby., 1701 or 1710. His eldest son was Nathan, Jun., born 1696; died 28 Sept., 1750. The Salmon Record states that he married Prudence Osman, though Chas. B. Moore, in his "Index of 1698," says Patience Osborn. The next son (and he is more particularly connected with the Griffing family) was Samuel Landon, born 20 May, 1699. He married Bethia Tuthill, born 1703; died 30 Aug., 1761. She was the daughter of Henry Tuthill (Justice) and Bethia (Horton) Tuthill. She was the daughter of Capt. Jonathan Horton and Bethia (Wells) Horton. She was the daughter of Wm. Wells, Esq., one of the thirteen original settlers of Southold. The children of Samuel Landon, Esq., were:

Henry, b. 1721; d. 1735.
Hannah (Mrs. Brown), b. 1724; d. 25 Sept., 1812.
Daughter, b. and d. Oct., 1726.
Samuel, b. 1727; d. 1797.
Bethia, b. 1730.

David was the grandfather of Judge E. R. Landon of Guilford, Charles Landon and Thomas Landon of N. Y. City, Mrs. Judge Ingraham, Mrs. Gustavus Hopkins, and Mrs. Oliver Fowler.]

[Note 2.—Barnabas Horton, born at Mousely, Leicestershire, Eng., 1600; died 13 July, 1680, at Southold, L. I.; married Mary ——, who survived him and was living in 1686. His youngest son, Capt. Jonathan Horton, born 1648, the first captain of cavalry in Suffolk Co., L. I., married Bethia Wells, daughter of William Wells, Esq., a man of note among the thirteen original settlers of Southold—a lawyer by profession. This William Wells was born in England 1618 (supposed to have been a son or connection of Rev. Wm. Wells, dean of Norwich, Eng.); died 13 Nov., 1671, aged 63. He married Mary ——, a remarkable woman, she being the mother of Bethia Wells above. Bethia Horton, daughter of Jonathan and Bethia (Wells) Horton, married Henry Tuthill before 1698. This Henry Tuthill, Justice, was born 1665 and died 1750, the son of John Tuthill, born in England 16 July, 1635; died at Southold 12 Oct., 1717.]

Judge Griffing was for many years a prosperous merchant in his native town. For nearly ten years he held the office of Judge of the Court for New Haven County, and represented the town of Guilford in the Legislature of Connecticut thirty-five times; from 1819 to 1833 he was chosen each successive year. He was stricken with apoplexy while visiting at the house of Rev. E. P. Rogers of Northampton, Mass., and in three hours passed away, on the 17 Sept., 1845, aged 78 years. His widow survived him twenty years. As we are indebted to her for much that we know of the Griffings, therefore it is fitting that she herself should have no brief place in these annals. We are made free to draw from the "Address" made at her funeral by one of her most highly esteemed and trusted friends, Rev. Henry Robinson, late of Guilford, Ct. He says: "For the station she was called to fill she was admirably fitted. She had been religiously educated, and had also enjoyed great advantages for the cultivation of her mind, and was richly gifted with that native good sense, that quick perception of what is fitting and proper, that enabled her to act discreetly under all circumstances. The long life of Mrs. Griffing furnished her uncommon opportunities for acquiring a knowledge of the most important events in the history of her country. When Gen. Lafayette in 1778 passed through Guilford on his way to Rhode Island, he and his suite were entertained at the house of Mrs. Griffing's father, Esquire Samuel Brown. Though she was then but eleven years old the visit of the French General made an indelible impression upon her memory. The minutest circumstances connected with it were related by her to the writer within a few years of her death. Of the unwritten history of her time few have gained so extensive a knowledge. She was thoroughly acquainted with the history of her native town and of those who resided in it. Her memory continued unimpaired down to a late period in life, and she could draw at will from the ample store of knowledge for the instruction and entertainment of her friends, who hung upon her lips, delighted to find that the 'multitude of years could teach wisdom' and contribute so largely to their rational enjoyment. Mrs. Griffing was truly an exemplary Christian; but she was more, for her piety was active and led her to use her abundant means in doing good to others. She entered heartily into the benevolent enterprises of her day, and the Bible, tract, and missionary societies had a firm friend in her. But while promoting the welfare of those far removed from her, our venerable friend did not neglect those of her own neighborhood. When far advanced in life she formed a plan to establish a seminary in her own town, where the young of both sexes might acquire an education fitting them for the duties and responsibilities of life. She lived to see this noble purpose carried into execution; to see a large and beautiful stone edifice erected amid pleasant grounds, and the seminary, under the name of the 'Guilford Institute,' put into successful operation. Some of those who were fitted for college at this school during its first years have made themselves a power in the army, in the pulpit, and through the press. As Mrs. Griffing lived to a very great age, so was she called to pay the inevitable tax on so long a life in being bereft of almost all her near relatives. Her husband died twenty years before her. Of her eight children, four were taken from her in childhood; two were removed in their youth; and one, a son on whom she leaned, sickened and died in the midst of a very active life. Only a daughter, Mrs. H. W. Chittenden, survives her. Mrs. Griffing died 1 June, 1865, within two days of the completion of her ninety-eighth year."

James Griffing, Jun., born 1 Jany., 1765, son of James Griffing (57) of Oysterponds (now Orient), Suffolk Co., N. Y., and Deziah (Terry) Griffing, married, 24 Dec., 1795, Mehitable Moore, daughter of John and Mehitable Moore of Rocky Point (now East Marion).

One says of James Griffing, Jun., who knew him well: "Perhaps there never was a man more respected and esteemed by all who knew him. It were not saying too much, we believe, to declare he had no enemy. His every act was as if the Omniscient Eye was directly upon him. Unobtrusive, yet ever self-possessed and dignified in his manners, he seemed possessed of a spirit worthy of the best Roman, nay, of the highest Christian, for he repined at no adverse fortune, and could say and feel, even in the hour of his greatest Providential affliction, 'Thou doest all things well.'"

James Griffing died 21 Dec., 1852. His excellent wife died some years before him.

CHILDREN:

437. Moses Griffing,[6] b. 23 Dec., 1796.
438. John Milton Griffing,[6] b. 18 May, 1799.

441. Benjamin Griffing,[6] b. 1 Nov., 1806; d. 4 June, 1825.
442. Seth Griffing,[6] b. 18 Oct., 1808.
443. David Griffing,[6] b. 3 Jany., 1810; d. 4 June, 1825.

Four of the sons of James Griffing were drowned off the Capes of Delaware in a terrible storm, 4 June, 1825. Daniel and David were in one small fishing-vessel, Joseph and Benjamin in another, and all four were swept at once to a watery grave.

Augustus Griffing, born 2 Feby., 1767, son of James Griffing (57) and Deziah (Terry) Griffing, married Lucretia Tuthill, born July, 1768, daughter of Nathaniel and Mary (Havens) Tuthill. [Mary Havens was daughter of Constant and Abigail Havens, and died Nov., 1822, aged 87 years. They lived at Sag Harbor, L. I.] Augustus Griffing was the compiler of interesting facts concerning the Griffings, together with accounts of the first settlers of Southold and Orient, L. I, published in 1857 as "Griffin's Journal."

He died March, 1866, having attained the wonderful age of 99 years. Mrs. Griffing died 18 May, 1849.

Peter Warren Griffing, born 12 April, 1780, son of James Griffing (57) and Deziah (Terry) Griffing, was probably born at Southold, as his father that spring took possession of the mansion of Hon. Ezra L'Hommedieu, in order to protect it from the British. In the "Journal" of A. Griffing there appears to be no further account of him or his family. One son has been heard of as residing at the west end of Long Island.

204.

Samuel Caddle Griffing, born 5 Jany., 1787, son of James Griffing (57) of Orient, and Deziah (Terry) Griffing. His name of Caddle was probably given him for that of Rev. Alex. Caddle, a dignified Scotch minister of Oysterponds about the time of his birth. "He was a teacher for many years in Annapolis, Md." Later he removed to Orange Co., N. Y., where he ended a useful life. In the Journal of A. Griffin one says of him at his death: "He was learned and intelligent; punctilious in his dress; genteel in his appearance; polite in his manners; he was a philanthropist and a Christian; devoted to the progress of amelioration and happiness of his race. To the circle of his closest friends Mr. Griffing presented a character which they will cherish in their memories with the liveliest emotions of affection and gratitude." His death took place at Newburgh, N. Y., 24 Sept., 1854.

211.

Capt. Peter Griffing, Jun., born, 1770, on Long Island, son of Capt. Peter (59) and Patience (Tabor) Griffing, came as a young man to Guilford, Ct., married Mary (called Polly) Fairchild, born Oct., 1770, daughter of Lewis and Betsey (Waterhouse) Fairchild of Guilford. He died 22 Sept., 1803, as commander of the ship "Juno," at sea, but being a Freemason, his remains were taken to the Island of St. Lucia and there buried. His wife died at Guilford, 1 March, 1824.

CHILDREN:

462. Elizabeth Griffing,[6] b. 17 May, 1796.
463. George Augustus Griffing,[6] b. 2 April, 1799.

212.

Joshua Griffing, born 1772, son of Capt. Peter Griffing (59) and Patience (Tabor) Griffing, came as a youth to Guilford, Ct., and married Clara Cruttenden, born 13 June, 1780, daughter of Timothy and Parnal (Redfield) Cruttenden. Soon after this marriage he removed to Lansingburgh, N. Y. Left children.

214.

Amon Tabor Griffing, born 1776, son of Capt. Peter Griffing (59) and Patience (Tabor) Griffing, married, about 1805, at New York, Mrs. Jarvis, formerly Miss Eleanor Vandewater of that city. Amon Griffing died at or near New York, 1819. Mrs. Griffing lived until a recent date, exact time not ascertained.

CHILDREN:

465. Anna Maria Griffing,[6] b. 6 Aug., 1806.
466. Amon Vandewater Griffing,[6] b. 17 Aug., 1807.

215.

Experience Griffing, born 18 Jany., 1771, at Philadelphia, was the eldest child of Capt. Moses Griffing (61) and Sarah (Stillwell) Griffing. She could well remember the night when the watchman on the streets of Philadelphia called out: "Half-past two o'clock! Lord Cornwallis is taken!" and that her mother sprang out of bed, threw open the shutters, and found everybody astir; joy filled the city. Experience Griffing married, about 1795, Nicholas Willetts, born 10 April, 1769, at the homestead at Willetts' Point, Upper Township of Cape May Co., New Jersey. He was the youngest son of James and Esther Willetts of the same place. When first married the young pair resided for a time at Beesley Point, but soon removed to the homestead (Willetts' Point), where their home continued to be, with the exception of one year, till the time of his death, about 1822. John Willetts, son of Hope Willetts, was born in Cape May Co. 1688, and married, in 1716, Martha Corson. He left three sons, Isaac, James, and Jacob. He was Judge of the Court for many years, and a member of Legislature in 1743. Nicholas Willetts was grandson of John. He lost his parents when young, at the beginning of the Revolutionary war. His older brothers went into the war, leaving the youngest, Nicholas, then about eight years old, to the care of an old slave of the family named Peg. She was highly esteemed by all its members, and took, no doubt, the best of care, physically at least, of the orphan boy. She was quite old and therefore often entertained him with stories connected with the early settlers—Indians, the wolves and well-guarded sheepfolds were the warp and woof of her stories, and very bewitching they doubtless were to the lonely boy. Situated as he was he could have but little schooling. He went to live with Mr. Eli Townsend to learn to be a farmer, and perhaps also a trade. After he reached the years of manhood he became studious, and in later years was a man of respectable attainments. He made a voyage or two to the West Indies, studied navigation and surveying, married the daughter of Capt. Griffing as said before, and settled on the homestead for life. His employment in the main was that of surveying and conveyancing, and he was much engaged in settling disputed claims. He had a remarkable tact at reconciling contending parties. As says his son in his Journal: "I have heard men say he was the only man whom everyone dared trust in dividing land alone, and settling controversies." He finished by actual survey the whole of Cape May Co., a considerable part of Gloucester (now Atlantic), and also the lower part of Cumberland Co. for Gordon's map of New Jersey, etc., and all the pecuniary compensation he received for his toils was one of those maps, worth at the time four dollars! He served in the legislature nine years. In those times when party spirit ran high he was a Federalist, but had many friends among the Democrats. His personal appearance was fine; quoting again from the Journal—"His countenance beamed with intelligence and benevolence; he was full of humor and anecdotes, and his fine colloquial powers made him the life of the company he was in." His moral qualities were of the highest order. It was his constant aim to be a true neighbor and friend. His Quaker ancestors were honored by such a descendant, for the stock to which he belonged were of the Society of Friends, whose names especially abound in the Records of the town of Flushing, L. I., among the Lawrences, Halletts, and others of the 17th century.

Of Elizabeth (Griffing) Willetts we will quote from records of a son: "My mother was rather tall, straight, and well proportioned; of a fair complexion. She had a most tender and affectionate disposition, was dearly loved by her husband and her children, and by a large circle of friends. She had a large share of what might be called pride of ancestry, and raised her family so that its members would he an honor to any society. No poor person ever left our house hungry; my parents always sympathized with, and succored those in distress of any kind,"

Experience Willetts died 18 July, 1847, aged 76 years.

CHILDREN:

Elizabeth Griffing, born 9 April, 1772, daughter of Capt. Moses Griffing (61) and Sarah (Stillwell) Griffing, married, 19 July, 1794, Capt. James Edwards of Philadelphia, born at Cape May, and son of Joseph Edwards. This family was of Welsh descent. Capt. Edwards was of the sea, and commanded his own ship. He died 27 Jany., 1807, while absent from his family on a voyage to the West Indies, leaving a widow with five children, all born in Philadelphia. Mrs. Edwards was a woman of rare qualities both of mind and heart, and withal attractive in her person. She reared and educated her children in the most admirable manner. All of them lived to be heads of families, except one son, who died when about seventeen. "Her children that remain rise up and call her blessed." One daughter married and went to reside in India; three made their homes in the South, and after this, rather late in life, we find Mrs. Edwards again married to Benjaman B. Hopkins, born in New York State, but a resident of Philadelphia, an elder in the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Hopkins died at Savannah, Ga., 20 Feby., 1851; Mr. Hopkins, at Ravenswood, 26 Oct., 1852; both lie buried at Rose Hill Cemetery, Macon, Ga.

CHILDREN:

Roxana Griffing, born 11 March, 1774, daughter of Capt. Moses Griffing (61) and Sarah (Stillwell) Griffing, married, 1st, Daniel Benizet of New Jersey, a nephew of the noted Anthony Benizet of Philadelphia. A letter from a young relative (Harry S. Edwards, Esq., Macon, Ga.) says: "Roxana Griffing Benizet was one of the most beautiful women in the State of Pennsylvania. I have her portrait painted by the celebrated Rembrandt Peale of Philadelphia, a model of art and beauty."

She was early left a widow, and married, 2d, Judge Parmenus Corson of New Jersey, whose homestead was on the sea, seven miles from Beesley Point. She soon died at Cape May, 17 May, 1806.

CHILD:

480. Albert Griffing Corson.[6]

Capt. Moses Griffing, Jun., born 11 Feby., 1776, son of Capt. Moses Griffing (61) and Sarah (Stillwell) Griffing, married, ——, Nancy Rapes of Egg Harbor, sister of Capt. Nicholas Rapes. Capt. Griffing was, like so many of his race, wedded to the sea, and was early in command of a ship. Without particularizing his early voyages, we can say that he sailed to various ports of Europe, up the Mediterranean, around Cape Horn, &c. His life was full of adventure, but as no one of his compeers remained who could give to us a connected account of the varied scenes through which he passed, we will simply allude to them in a brief way. When quite a young man he in some way—we cannot now show in what manner—lent a helping hand to the French refugees who wished to flee from the confusion and danger incident to the Haytien Revolution of the Island of St. Domingo, probably about 1803–4, saving other men's lives at the hazard of his own. In the war of 1812 he was captured at sea and taken to Halifax, "whence he was liberated before his turn because he was a mason." In his later years he was commander of the ship "Starr" to Calcutta. I draw from a letter received from a relative of his now in Europe the following: "You are probably informed as to his personal character, his singular rectitude, and the modesty which forever debarred him from the guerdon of his merits. As a merchant he was very successful, making two or three fortunes during his career; but a sailor's thriftlessness, and a heart ever open to solicitation for other's needs, made it difficult for him to retain wealth. He was a man of extensive knowledge of the various countries of the world, and the customs and habits of their people. A man, too, highly interesting in his conversation, and so courteous in his deportment toward those who were with him on the then long voyages to distant India, as to win their highest esteem." It may be added that he was a very handsome man, with a complexion "wonderfully fair" for one who had all his life been a sailor. As a husband and father he had no rival. On a return voyage from Calcutta, and when near Cape of Good Hope, as he stood on the deck of his ship conversing pleasantly with some of his officers, he was stricken with apoplexy and lived but about two hours. He was buried in the sea, as he had often expressed his desire that the ocean might be his last resting-place if he died at sea. His death took place 31 Dec., 1836. Mrs. Griffing died in Philadelphia 27 April, 1860.

CHILDREN (all born in Philadelphia):

Angelina Griffing, born 8 Feby., 1778, daughter of Capt. Moses Griffing (61) and Sarah (Stillwell) Griffing, married, first, Capt. Hasting of Philadelphia, and had two sons, one of whom died in infancy. Afterward she married Capt. Daniel Hunt, and went to Portland, Maine, to reside. After this her son, George Hasting, by her former marriage, died of yellow fever in the West Indies when about sixteen years of age. Capt. Hunt was young when he began his business life; was made commander of an East Indiaman, "The Cornelia," a ship of twenty-two hundred tons, when he was twenty-one years old; afterward owned and commanded the privateer "Louisa" in the war of 1812–1815. A fine likeness of him is in the family of Mrs. Edwards of Macon, Ga., painted by Rembrandt Peale, Esq., about 1805. Mrs. Angelina Hunt was a woman of great intelligence and fine breeding; one born to have sway over others perhaps, yet possessed of a most kindly nature, ever ready to comfort the distressed, to make a home for the orphans; "she was truly a noble woman." One says of her: "Her memory was excellent, she was a great reader, and had she been of the sterner sex, would have made a good statesman." After the death of Capt. Hunt, Mrs. Hunt removed with her daughters to New York, where she died 5 Aug., 1852, and lies buried in Greenwood Cemetery.

CHILDREN BY FIRST MARRIAGE:

485. George Hasting.[6]

486. Infant;[6] d. young.

BY SECOND MARRIAGE:

221.

Capt. Joseph Carson Griffing, born 1 Dec., 1781, son of Capt. Moses Griffing (61) and Sarah (Stillwell) Griffing, became a sailor, and when twenty-one years of age commanded a ship. He married Abby Bickley, daughter of Daniel Bickley, a wealthy Philadelphian. The port to which Capt. Griffing sailed was Calcutta. When almost at the head of his profession, and his prospects very flattering, he was taken sick at Calcutta, and for three months was ill in the house of Mr. Return Braddock, a native of New Jersey, but a resident of India. Here he received every kindness and attention which his situation required. He sent many loving messages to his wife and friends in America, whom he was never to meet again. He died 23 July, 1811, and was buried in Calcutta, the place marked by a monument sent from Philadelphia by his wife. She, after some years, became the wife of a Mr. Tallman of Philadelphia.

CHILDREN:

490. Son;[6] d. young.

491. Daniel Griffing,[6] b. Dec., 1808.

222.

Samuel Griffing, born 10 April, 1784, son of Capt. Moses Griffing (61) and Sarah (Stillwell) Griffing, like his father and brothers followed the sea and sailed to foreign ports. He married, 15 Dec., 1804, Anna Savage, daughter of Capt. Savage of Connecticut. She was born 10 March, 1787, and died, at Philadelphia, 23 July, 1811, leaving a daughter. Samuel Griffing died at his mother's house in Philadelphia, 17 Feby., 1817.

CHILD:

492. Sarah Griffing,[6] b. 11 April, 1808.

223.

Bela Stone, born 11 Nov., 1788, son of Solomon Stone and Elizabeth (Griffing) Stone (65), married, 23 Nov., 1811, Clarissa Leete, born 6 Aug., 1789, daughter of Elijah Leete of Guilford, and Leah (Hill) Leete. [Leah Hill was daughter of George Hill of Guilford, and Ruth Robinson, daughter of Thomas Robinson, Jun., the son of Mr. Thomas Robinson from England.] Bela Stone died at Guilford, 19 Feby, 1839. Clarissa, his wife, died 13 April, 1868.

497. Edward Griffing Stone,[6] b. 26 July, 1826; d. 26 Sept., 1838.

[Elijah Leete, born 21 Dec., 1753, father of Clarissa Leete (wife of B. Stone), was the son of Solomon Leete, born Sept., 1722. He was the son of William Leete, born 1671, who was the son of Andrew Leete and Elizabeth Jordan (daughter of Thomas Jordan, who came to Guilford, Ct., at its early settlement and returned to England about the same time Rev. Henry Whitfield and Samuel Desboro' did).

Hon. Andrew Leete was the second son of William Leete, who belonged to the Leetes of Evorsden of Cambridgeshire and Midlow of Huntingdonshire, England. He was bred to the law in England, and served as a clerk for a considerable time in the Bishops Court at Cambridge, where, observing the oppressions and cruelties then practiced on the conscientious Puritans, he was eventually led to become a Puritan himself and give up his office. He then came to New England with Rev. Mr. Whitfield, and they, with a few others, settled at Guilford, Ct., and organized the first church in that place. William Leete was Deputy Governor of New Haven colony from 1658 to 1661. He was then elected Governor of the colony, which office he held until the union with Connecticut. He held the office of Deputy Governor of the colony of Connecticut from 1669 to 1676, and then he was chosen Governor, which office he held until his death, which took place in Hartford, 15 April, 1683. His remains lie buried in the "Old Burying Ground" in the rear of the Center Church of Hartford.]

226.

Sally Johnson Stone, born 30 Oct., 1789, daughter of Medad and Mary Griffing Stone (66) of Guilford, Ct., married, 26 Nov., 1815, Rosewell Bartholomew, a prominent citizen of Hartford, Ct., born 28 Jany., 1781, at Harwinton, Ct., son of Andrew Bartholomew, 3d, and Sarah (Wiard) Bartholomew. [He was grandson of Rev. Andrew Bartholomew, who was for many years pastor of Congregational Church at Harwinton.]

Rosewell Bartholomew became a partner in business with Col. James Ward in 1804. The firm was Ward & Bartholomew, afterward known as Ward, Bartholomew & Brainard, until the death of Mr. Bartholomew, 7 April, 1830.

CHILDREN (born at Hartford):

245.

Lucia Cruttenden, born 28 Oct., 1769, daughter of Beriah and Lydia (Griffing) Cruttenden (75), married Joshua Geer of New York. There were several children by this marriage. One daughter married Gillaume Merle, a native of Geneva, Switzerland, an elder brother of the historian of the "Reformation," so well known as Merle D'Aubigne. (This appended title belonged to the elder brother, but becoming an adopted citizen of a republican country he needed no such suffix to his name, hence it was adopted by his brother. Mr. Merle was largely engaged in the fur trade, etc.) There were daughters by this marriage, married, perhaps abroad.

[In 1686 a shipload of Huguenots, or French Protestants, exiles and sufferers for conscience sake, landed on the west shore of Long Island Sound eighteen miles above the city of New York. The village they founded received the name it now bears, in remembrance of their "Own Rochelle, the fair Rochelle, Proud city of the waters."

The first church was erected about 1692 or 1693. Within its walls the colony worshipped God unmolested by man, according to the usage of the reformed church in France. The first minister was the Rev. David Boncepos, who accompanied the exiles from their native country. In 1694 he was succeeded by Rev. Daniel Boudet, a native of France. The successor of Boudet, in 1724, was Rev. Pierre Stouppe, also of France. Stouppe was succeeded by a converted Franciscan friar, Rev. Michael Houdin. After the Revolution we find Mr. Andrew Fowler (son of Andrew and Martha Stone Fowler), who had just finished his studies at Yale College, acting as lay-reader to this exiled church from 1781–1786. The succeeding history of this historic church is very interesting. When Mr. Andrew Fowler was admitted to Holy Orders, he entered upon his duties at Charleston, S. C., where his children were born.]

John Starr Griffing, born 8 Aug., 1815, son of Capt. Joel Griffing (85) and Mary (Starr) Griffing, married, 26 Aug., 1844, Mary Matilda Coley, born 23 May, 1820, daughter of John Hyde Coley, merchant of New Haven, and Matilda (Beach) Coley. In the summer of 1869 he went with an overland party to California, accompanied by his wife. From that journey he never returned to his pleasant home in the City of Elms. We gather from a daily paper of that city the following announcement:

"Aug. 1st, 1869. A dispatch received at a late hour last night, addressed to Mr. John H. Coley, announced the death of Mr. Griffing, in Chicago, last night. This sad news will cause a general feeling of regret in the business community, and among a large circle of personal friends. Mr. Griffing was much esteemed, and a useful and valuable man. His illness originated in a partial sun-stroke which he received at Ogden, a place about twenty miles this side of Salt Lake City. The train on which was the New Haven party, of which Mr. Griffing was one, stopped at the place where the Salt Lake railroad will unite with the Pacific road, and he walked to Ogden, a distance of two miles, in a very hot sun, to see if there were letters there. When arrived at Ogden he found himself much exhausted, but no serious symptoms were manifested until five days after, when he was attacked with brain fever at Chicago, and of which he soon died. He was attended with the utmost care by tender friends in his illness.

"Mr. Griffing has long been identified with the interests of New Haven. He was born in Guilford and came as a young man to this city (1831), and after a few years entered into mercantile life, and for many years conducted, in partnership with a brother, Jasper Griffing, the hardware and iron business. He has filled places of trust in the community. He was a director in the 'Merchants' Bank' from its commencement, and vice-president for many years, which position he held at the time of his death. He had also of late filled the office of president of the 'Mutual Security Insurance Company.'

"He was a prominent director in the Swedes' Iron Company, near Milwaukee, one of the largest manufacturing establishments in the West. His perfect method in mercantile affairs, his promptness in financial matters, his genial disposition and agreeable manners, all secured him a large circle of friends. He was, moreover, a model son, husband, and father."

He died at Chicago, 31 July, 1869.

Frederic Redfield Griffing, born 5 Nov., 1798, son of Nathaniel Griffing (87) and Sarah (Brown) Griffing, obtained such an education as the local schools afforded, and early went into business with his father, who was then engaged in shipping; building his own vessels, and doing a large coasting and West India trade, besides considerable trade with Mediterranean ports. The young man early evinced an aptitude for business, and soon developed traits of character which in later years won for him a place in the front ranks as a comprehensive and sagacious business man. He was one of the originators of the Manhattan Gas-Light Co. of New York City—was a stockholder in the New Haven and Hartford Railroad from its beginning, and instrumental in getting the road extended to Springfield, to connect with the Boston and Albany Railroad. He was largely interested from the first in developing the coal-mining and transporting interests of Pennsylvania, in building the town of Scranton, and many other enterprises, besides being a partner in a large shipping house in New York. One of his last works was the building of the Shore Line Railway from New Haven to New London, to which he contributed largely in funds, influence, and personal services, and which was completed and opened for business a few months before his death. He died 13 Oct., 1852, in the city of New York, while on his way to Pennsylvania to meet a surveying party, who were going to locate a railroad in the coal fields. Although not remarkably robust physically, and having, when a young man, serious pulmonary trouble (which, however, he recovered from after spending several winters in the Southern States and West Indies), he was enabled, by taking proper care of his health, to lead a life of incessant business activity, and accomplish much towards developing the business interests of the country in his day. He was a kind friend, and a dutiful and affectionate son. Never marrying, he made his home with his family at the old homestead, and many were the young men of those days who could date their first success to his assistance, either by money or good advice.

Mary Griffing, born 6 Feby., 1801, daughter of Hon. Nathaniel Griffing (87) and Sarah (Brown) Griffing, married, 10 March, 1824, Henry Ward Chittenden, born 7 Dec., 1794, son of Abraham Chittenden and Mrs. Lydia (Baldwin) Rose, daughter of Israel Baldwin.

[Henry W. Chittenden was a descendant, in the seventh generation, of William Chittenden, one of the first settlers of Guilford, Ct., and Joanna (Sheaffe) Chittenden. Joanna Sheaffe was the fourth child of Rev. Edward Sheaffe, D. D., who was baptized at Cranbrooke, Kent, England, 17 March 1559; married, first, Elizabeth Taylor, 30 May, 1586. He married, second, Joanna ——. By first wife he had issue:

1. Edmund Sheaffe; m. Elizabeth Cotton, daughter of Sampson Cotton, London.
2. Margaret Sheaffe; m. Robert Kitchell.

By second wife, Joanna:

3. Dorothy Sheaffe; m. Rev. Henry Whitfield.
4. Joanna Sheaffe; m. Wm. Chittenden as above.
5. Jacob Sheaffe, b. 4 Aug., 1616; m. Margaret Webb.

Jacob Sheaffe was one of the Guilford settlers and one of the "seven pillars" of their church. His widow married Rev. Thomas Thatcher of Boston. So William Chittenden, Robert Kitchell, Jacob Sheaffe and Rev. Henry Whitfield were brothers-in-law as well as co-emigrants. Joanna, the second wife of Rev. Edward Sheaffe of Cranbrooke, Eng., followed her children to America, and died at Guilford, Ct., in July, 1659.]

Statira Esther Griffing, born 19 March, 1805, daughter of Col. Josiah Griffing (101) and Dorothy (Gates) Griffing, married, 10 May, 1825, Selden Marvin Ely, born 7 March, 1800, at Lyme, Ct. He settled at Ripley, N. Y., and died there 6 April, 1861. Mrs. Ely survives him, and makes her home in the families of her children. [Selden Marvin Ely was the eldest son of Col. Seth Ely and Phœbe (Marvin) Ely of Lyme, and was a descendant of Richard Ely of Saybrook, Ct., who lived in the latter part of the 17th century. This Richard Ely was born at Plymouth, England, and came to this country with his father, Richard Ely the first of Lyme, about 1660. Richard Ely the first was a widower when he came to this country, but he afterward married Elizabeth Cullick, a widowed sister of Col. George Fenwick. She owned the Great Meadow. There was an incumbrance on this property which her last husband paid and the property was settled on him.]

To Mrs. Ely great indebtedness is due for the full and satisfactory records of the descendants of George and Eve (Dorr) Griffing, scattered now all over the land. And as much is due, perhaps, for the ready and hearty sympathy manifested in the progress of this work. Her letters, full of cheer and encouragement, were as benedictions to the receiver. And, moreover, all this aid was rendered when past her three score years and ten. The love of lineage so strong in her, has been transmitted to her children, and to her children's children, who rise up and call her blessed.

Phebe Lord, born 20 Feby., 1797, daughter of Joseph and Phebe (Griffing) Lord (102) of Lyme, Ct., married, 16 May, 1827, Deac. Daniel Rogers Noyes, born 22 Aug., 1793, fifth son of Col. Thomas and Lydia (Rogers) Noyes of Westerly, R. I. He was a merchant and settled at Lyme. [This Col. Thomas Noyes of the Revolutionary army died at Westerly, R. I., 20 September, 1819. He was the eldest son of Joseph Noyes, born 9 Oct., 1827, and Barbara, his wife; was grandson of Rev. James Noyes, born 11 March, 1640, the first minister of Stonington, and Dorothy Stanton, his wife. Rev. James Noyes was second son of Rev. James Noyes, minister of Newbury, Mass., who was born at Choulderston in Wiltshire, Eng.; married, in 1634, Sarah Brown, daughter of Joseph Brown of Southampton, and came to America same year in the ship "Mary and John" of London.] "Miss Phebe Lord was born in Lyme on the 20th of February, 1797, and her earliest years were passed there, surrounded by all those influences of country life which seem so well fitted to intensify and develop traits of character derived from inheritance. But her education was carried on and completed in the household of her uncle, George Griffin of New York, as a companion at home and at school of his eldest daughter, enjoying all the advantages of the best native and foreign instructors, as well as that of the highly cultivated society to which her uncle belonged. To these gifts of nature and education was early added the grace of hearty consecration to the service of God, which could not but mellow her character, by softening its natural independence and self-reliance, and ennoble all her fine qualities by devoting them to objects not selfish. Even to her dying hours her unselfishness and her love to children (her love to her own being intense and most devoted) were marked characteristics. One of the pastimes of her childhood had been to imagine herself a teacher and to group other children around her as her scholars— showing a natural bent of mind and indicating what was to be the chief occupation of her life. Accordingly, after completing her own education, she returned to her mother's house and commenced teaching first her younger sisters, and gradually others joined with them, until her marriage. After an interval of some length, as her family grew up around her, Mrs. Noyes again gave herself to the work of instruction, which gradually became her life-work, uniting the education of young ladies, gathered from all parts, under her own roof, with the training of her children, who made a large circle, as time went on, around the family board." Mrs. Noyes died 12 Oct., 1875. Mr. Noyes died Oct., 1877.

[From the Brooklyn Eagle.

"JULIA GRIFFIN, SCULPTRESS.

"The many friends in Brooklyn of Miss Julia Griffin will be sincerely shocked and pained when they learn of her death, which took place suddenly on the morning of the 17th inst., at her father's residence, in Harlem. She was well and widely known in this city, where the greater portion of her life was spent, and where her earliest associations were formed. Miss Griffin was born in North Lyme, Ct., 11th Sept., 1848, and at the time of her death was thirty years and seven months old. Her parents removed to this city when she was in her early childhood, and here her early education and training were received.

"She early showed herself to be possessed of a mind of uncommon brilliancy, and this, coupled with unusual graces of person and character, soon drew around her hosts of friends. While still quite young she displayed considerable ability as an elocutionist, and won high praise from the poet Whittier, in his home in Amesbury, by her rendering of his 'Maud Muller.' She displayed also a genius for art, and turned her attention to drawing and sculpture. She began modeling when quite a child, and as she grew older the passion grew upon her. Our Brooklyn artist, Mr. J. B. Whittaker, became interested in her progress, and for a long time she occupied a place in his studio, where she drew a crayon portrait of Mr. David M. Stone, of the Journal of Commerce. Her taste, however, was for modeling, and to that she turned her attention. She enjoyed the privilege of the studio and the instruction of J. Wilson Macdonald, the New York sculptor, and then commenced her career as a sculptress. Among the portrait busts modeled by her were those of President F. A. P. Barnard, of Columbia College, Rev. Dr. E. H. Chapin, of New York (shown at the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia), General James Jourdan, General Thomas S. Dakin, Judge Brady, of New York, and Mayor Havemeyer, the last named being her most successful production. It was honored with a medal by the American Institute, and a copy was taken to Ireland by the Lord Mayor of Dublin.

"At one of the King's County fairs at the Brooklyn Rink she succeeded Vinnie Ream as a modeler, and attracted extended attention from the superior artistic character of her work. She was an accomplished artist in crayon, and took a special course in anatomical study for artistic purposes. In the Spring of 1877 she went to Europe, but returned some months ago, broken in health. She had at that time in her studio several unfinished busts which her health did not allow her to complete. The return home did not seem to benefit her health, and she was prevented from resuming the active work of her profession. Death came suddenly, and she was stricken down at a time when her ripening mind gave large promise of future achievements. She was known to a wide circle of literary and artistic friends, to whom she was endeared as much by the winsome sweetness and beauty of her character, as for her brilliant intellect. Her mind was acute, her conversation bright and sparkling, and she displayed a rare faculty for the intuitive perception of philosophical ideas. Her artistic conceptions were grand and lofty, and at times she essayed work beyond her strength. In the circle which she adorned her untimely death has left a void that cannot be filled. She was best loved where best known, and around her young life, cut short in her early prime, there will cluster some of the sweetest and most fragrant of memory's blossoms."]

Rev. Nathaniel Herrick Griffing, D.D., born 28 Dec., 1814, son of Nathaniel Griffing (129) and Azubah (Herrick) Griffing, graduated at Williams College 1834; studied theology at Princeton Seminary; and was licensed to preach the Gospel by the Presbytery of Long Island 5 Sept., 1837. He married, 26 Aug., 1839, Hannah Elizabeth Bulkley, born 21 April, 1817, daughter of Major Solomon Bulkley of Williamstown, and Mary his wife. Rev. Mr. Griffing was for a time settled over the Presbyterian Church at Delhi, N. Y. He was ultimately made Doctor of Divinity by Lafayette College. To quote from a paper prepared by Rev. Addison Ballard, D.D., for the New York Evangelist:

"Dr. Griffing was most widely known and will be honorably remembered for the varied and important services which he rendered to Williams College. For eleven years he occupied the chair of Ancient Languages; published for eleven years the Triennial Catalogue; was the first to prepare necrological sketches of its graduates; for twenty-four years acted as Secretary of its Alumni Association; and by his tact, vigilance, and assiduity, caused its library, of which he had assumed the charge, to be regarded as a model in its plan of working. Dr. Griffing came of good stock. His father, a man of fine parts, was leader, elder, and largely the founder of the church where he lived at Westhampton, L. I. It was while away from home, at the age of twelve, preparing for college in the family of a clergyman, that Dr. Griffing was converted. His deep and pungent convictions resulted in a change so clear and decided, that little room was left for doubt in subsequent life. He ever committed himself with unshaken confidence to God, whatever might be his trials. This perfect trust was a marked feature in his last illness. We count it a special grace that the Father gently drew the heart of His trusting child heavenward by prophetic longings, months before his departure. For more than a year previous, his growth in spiritual things was so marked that none who were near him could fail to see it. During the whole of the preceding winter the life and character of Christ were his constant study, by days during intervals of leisure in the library, and in the evenings at home. So engrossed was he in this study that nothing could divert him from it, not even the fond devices of affection, which feared lest he was getting ready for heaven too soon, and which yearned to detain him longer. He wished the Gospel read to him during his sickness, together with the Psalms, and a selection of hymns which he made for this purpose in the early part of his illness. Feeding on this growing knowledge of Christ, his faith grew likewise, so that he could say, 'I know Him whom I trust.' There was nothing he could not commit perfectly to Him. It did not trouble him, therefore, that he could not form definite views of the future life. When asked, 'Does it seem to you that you will forget us all when you are gone?' he replied, 'I do not know about that; I only know that all will be right. I am sure that I shall meet you all at the last.' Thus without raptures or visions, but relying on the sure word of God, so peacefully and lovingly did he await and meet the end, that dearest friends even amidst their tears, are able to say, 'We can think of no one thing in the circumstances of his death which we could wish otherwise than it was.'—Lafayette College, Easton."

His death took place at his home in Williamstown, 16 Oct., 1876.

thaniel and Mary (Davis) Jackson of Quogue. She died 22 Sept., 1861. Edward Griffing was Justice of the Peace for many years, and an elder in the Presbyterian Church, as was his father before him, and such was the esteem in which he was held that at the burial of his wife, which took place on a Sabbath, the three churches of the place were closed that all might attend the funeral, and more than one hundred carriages followed her remains to the grave. Edward Griffing died 5 Oct., 1872. At his death and funeral all the respect due to a good man, and a citizen well-beloved, was paid to his memory.

Capt. Seth Brown Griffing, born 1 Sept., 1810, son of William Hubbard Griffing (183) and Anna (Young) Griffing of Guilford, Ct., after receiving a good education, chose the sea for his profession. He rose rapidly, and when young had command of a packet ship from New York to London. He was a friend and compeer of the late Capt. Robert Griswold of Lyme, Ct., and was for a few voyages his first mate. Many of the passengers who crossed the ocean with Capt. Griffing became his attached friends for life. He was, at the time of his death, commander of the ship "Montreal" of the New York and London Line. He died suddenly while dressing himself in his stateroom on the morning of the 12 Oct., 1841, the ship having just reached London. His death was the result of asthma, to which he had been subject for years. He was a model sea captain, a brave sailor, and a loving son and brother. He was buried in Tower Hamlets Cemetery, London.

Moses Willetts, born 26 Nov., 1797—one o'clock Sunday morning—eldest son of Nicholas and Experience (Griffing) Willetts (215) of Willett's Point, Cape May Co., N. J., married Amelia Young, descendant of Judge Henry Young. [An extensive landholder, Judge of the Court from 1722 till his death, 1767, and member of Legislature ten years.] Moses Willetts was a most estimable citizen; a strong trait in him was love of family, and from "Notes" that he left much has been gleaned that is valuable as connected with the descendants of Capt. Moses Griffing, his maternal grandfather. He died 1 Sept., 1878.

CHILDREN:

853. Enoch S. Willetts,[7] b. 12 Oct., 1819.

Reuben Willetts, born 4 July, 1802, son of Nicholas and Experience (Griffing) Willetts (215), was a successful physician, well beloved. He lived for some years at Dyer's Creek, Middle Township, Cape May Co., N. J., where he carried on a large farm and practised medicine. Afterward removed to Port Elizabeth, N. J., where he was also a physician, and where he died. He married Hannah Brick, daughter of Joshua Brick, Esq., a prominent man of Cumberland County. She still lives at Port Elizabeth.

475.

Sarah Stillwell Edwards, born 16 Dec., 1795, daughter of Capt. James and Elizabeth (Griffing) Edwards (216), was educated at her home in Philadelphia, and married, 1824, Alfred Moore Nisbet of Athens, Georgia. They lived a few years at Athens, and then removed to Milledgeville, where they spent the remainder of their lives. Mrs. Nisbet died Aug., 1866; her husband in 1875.

476.

Eliza Griffing Edwards, born 27 Feby., 1800, daughter of Capt. James and Elizabeth (Griffing) Edwards (216), married, 1834, Rev. James Wilson, born in Westmoreland Co., Penn.; graduated at Canonsburg College and Alleghany Theological Seminary. The same year Mr. and Mrs. Wilson sailed as missionaries under the Presbyterian Board, from Boston to Calcutta; from thence went to Lodiana on the borders of the Seikk country, then the limit of British rule in India. Rev. John Newton and wife (both friends of the Wilsons in America) went as their missionary companions, but they remained together but one year, Rev. Mr. Wilson and wife being sent to labor at Allahabad (Allah-abad—God's place). There they labored for many years. It was a flourishing mission. A native church was gathered, of which Mr. Wilson was the pastor; Mrs. W. had the care of the female boarding school. After some years at Allahabad, they were removed to Agra. In all were in India seventeen years; retured to America in 1851. Since their return they have resided for a time at Knoxville, Tenn.; then at South Carolina, and now at Nashville, Tenn , where two of their children are settled.

CHILDREN (born in Northern India):

866. James Edwards Wilson,[7] b. April, 1836, at Lodiana.
867. Luther Halsey Wilson,[7] b. 17 July, 1837, at Sabathee, in Himalaya Mts.

870. Sarah Elizabeth Wilson,[7] b. 31 March, 1844, at Allahabad.

477.

James Carson Edwards, born 17 July, 1802, son of Capt. James and Elizabeth (Griffing) Edwards (216), went to Georgia when a young man, where he settled for life. He married Elizabeth Griffing Hunt of Portland, Me., afterward of New York city.

See No. 489. They lived at Macon, Ga., where his business was that of a cotton-buyer and land agent. Mr. Edwards was a man of decided literary tastes, was—as was happily said of the poet Beddoes—a "strayed singer." He was the author of the well-known poems "Music," "Vale of Nacoochee," and many others, including "War Songs of 1848." He loved history, especially in the line of genealogical research, and had made, when he died, considerable progress in collecting dates of the Griffing and Edwards families. He died April, 1861. His family reside in Macon.

CHILDREN:

871. Richard Somers Edwards,[7] b. 16 Jany., 1846.
872. James Wilson Edwards,[7] b. 1848.

Caroline Griffing Edwards, born 9 Nov., 1806, daughter of Capt. James and Elizabeth (Griffing) Edwards (216), married, Oct., 1829, in Athens, Ga., Benjamin G. Walker, Esq., of Burke Co., Ga., and settled on a cotton plantation near Tallahassee, Florida. Mr. Walker soon after lost his health, and returning to his old home died there, 1834. Mrs. Walker married, Jany., 1838, Robert Anderson Allen, born Sept., 1807 (son of Rev. Robert Allen of Columbia Co., Ga., of Scotch descent), and settled in the family homestead (Ravenswood) on a large plantation on the Savannah road, ten miles below the city of Augusta. Mr. Allen was a widower with three children, two sons, and a daughter two and a half years old. Mr. Allen represented Richmond County several times in the State legislature, and was for several years associate on the County Court Bench in Augusta. In 1840 he removed to Savannah and embarked in mercantile life, and for twenty years led an active and successful career in that line. Retiring from business on the eve of the civil war, he returned to his Ravenswood home, but survived the change but a few years. Symptoms of organic heart disease appeared early in 1872, and, after eleven months of great suffering, he died Sunday, 2 Feby., 1873, surrounded by wife, children and grandchildren, whose choicest heritage is the memory of his noble example and unblemished life.

CHILD OF BENJAMIN AND CAROLINE G. WALKER:

880. Mary Elizabeth Walker,[7] b. Oct., 1831, at Athens, Ga.

481.

Roxana Benizet Griffing, born Oct., 1806, was twin daughter, with Margaretta, of Capt. Moses Griffing, Jun. (218), and Nancy (Rapes) Griffing. These twin daughters were very beautiful children, and so closely resembled one another that persons outside the family could not distinguish them. For the benefit of those about them, each girl wore a locket with the initials of her name. Says a correspondent of the writer: "The beauty of this family (Capt. Moses G.'s daughters) was so celebrated, that I have heard it extolled through my whole life. Even to this day every acquaintance that I make, who has ever seen Capt. G., his wife, or their daughters, Roxana and Margaret (twins), Arabella, and Mary, makes it the first theme of their comment." Roxana married, Jany., 1830, Richard Beesley of Beesley Point, Cape May Co., N. J. She died many years since, leaving one daughter.

CHILD:

881. Margaretta Beesley,[7] b. 10 Jany., 1833.

483.

Arabella Griffing, third daughter of Capt. Moses Griffing, Jun. (218), and Nancy (Rapes) Griffing, married Robert T. Conrad, born 1808, son of John and Eliza (Kittera) Conrad of Philadelphia. [Eliza Kittera was a sister of the distinguished lawyer, Thomas Kittera, of an old Philadelphia family.] Judge Conrad was elected Mayor of his native city in 1854, and served two years. He was the first mayor of the consolidated City of Philadelphia, for previous to this it was ruled by some half dozen distinct municipalities. He long occupied a prominent place as one of the most eloquent orators and successful dramatic writers of this country. His dramatic pieces, "Conrad of Naples," and "Aylmere; or, The Bondman of Kent," evince the possession of poetical powers of no ordinary cast. The latter, together with a number of minor poems, was published in 1852 at Philadelphia. His prose compositions possess merit not inferior to that of his poetry. Mrs. Conrad died April, 1857; her husband in 1858.

CHILDREN:

882. Roxana Conrad,[7] b. ——; m. Mr. Eisenbrey, of old Philadelphia family.
883. Arabella Conrad,[7] b. 3 May, 1838.

Elizabeth Griffing Hunt, daughter of Capt. Daniel and Angelina (Griffing) Hunt (219), married James Carson Edwards of Georgia—No. 477.

492.

Sarah Griffing, born 11 April, 1808, only child of Samuel Griffing (222) and Anna (Savage) Griffing, was early left an orphan, but sent for and adopted by her aunt, Mrs. Angelina (Griffing) Hunt of Portland, Me., afterward of New York, by whom she was cared for for nine years. She then returned to Philadelphia, and soon became the wife of John W. Gandy of Cape May Court House, New Jersey, where through all her married life she has resided. The writer is indebted to Mrs. Gandy for many interesting reminiscences.

909. Harriet Spencer Stone,[7] b. 7 April, 1850; d. in infancy.

494.

Clara Jeannette Stone, born 30 June, 1815, daughter of Bela Stone (223) and Clarissa (Leete) Stone, was, on her mother's side, a descendant in the seventh generation of William Leete, Governor of Connecticut. She became a member of the Congregational Church in Guilford at the age of sixteen years, and sustained through life an active and consistent Christian character, not requiring, as do some, the aid of the broad folds of the mantle of charity to hide excresences or defects. She possessed remarkable conversational powers and was familiar with the details of general history, and with the personal history of a large number of prominent individuals in all parts of the country. A prominent trait in her character was the utter absence of all selfish feeling, and her readiness to give up all personal considerations and preferences in deference to the wishes of her friends. It was on this ground that in early life she was led to decline a matrimonial engagement which offered her position and work in a foreign missionary field. The greater portion of her life was devoted to the business of teaching, first in her native village and subsequently in the city of New York, and in Hartford, showing herself to be a successful teacher, and gaining the warmest affections of her pupils. She died 25 March, 1880.

Charles Mortimer Stone, born 18 Dec., 1817, son of Bela Stone (223) and Clarissa (Leete) Stone, married, 5 Jany., 1840, Ellen Maria Benton, daughter of Lindley and Betsey (Seward) Benton of Guilford. Charles M. Stone lives (1881) upon the homestead and in the house of his grandfather, Solomon Stone—the house at the above date being 115 years old.

George Medad Bartholomew, born 3 Oct., 1816, son of Roswell and Sally (Stone) Bartholomew (226), was baptized at Christ Church, Hartford, by Rev. Philander Chase (afterwards Bishop Chase of Ohio), prepared for college under the tuition of Rev. Oliver Hopson, and Sept., 1832, entered Washington College (now Trinity), Rev. Nath. Wheaton, President. In 1833, not intending to pursue any profession requiring a collegiate course, he left college with satisfactory letters of dismission from President Wheaton, who was a lifelong friend of the family. The 15 June, 1832, he (at age of sixteen) entered the Domestic Dry Goods Store of Robt. Watkinson & Co., Hartford, and 1 Jany., 1839, entered into copartnership with Robt. Watkinson, the business comprising the care and management of several cotton mills at Manchester, Marlboro and Glastonbury, and the disposal of their products. Mr. Bartholomew married, 22 June, 1847, Fannie G. Fowler, only child of Abraham S. and Fannie (Griswold) Fowler of Guilford, Ct. ---

*When but eleven years of age she lost her mother. Her father made a second marriage, and removed to Florida. Miss Brown was most carefully educated in Albany, and as there were French officers domiciled in her grandfather's house in that city, she was thoroughly instructed in the French language by them, and spoke it like a native. She became a noted teacher of French and Belles-lettres. Dr. (afterward Bishop) Wainwright was her teacher in this department, and some of her poetical effusions, written about that time, have given particular pleasure to her friends.

* "His work is a most laborious encyclopedia of all that is known up to to-day of the native races of the Pacific States, and it embraces all the inhabitants of the region to the west of the Mississippi, from the Arctic Sea to the Isthmus of Panama. His aim, as he tells us in his preface, is not so much to write history, as to provide materials out of which it may be eventually written by others. With infinite trouble he has brought the ore to the surface, and piled it up in full faith that it will undergo eventually those processes by which the dross is purged away, and pass current as the bright metal of history. His aim is modest, and implies true nobility of mind."—Edinburgh Review, 1877.

George Griffing Ely, born 5 Jany., 1828, son of Selden M. and Statira Esther (Griffing) Ely (343), married, 5 Jany., 1876, in Christ's Church, Georgetown, D. C., by the Rev. Walter Williams, D.D., Fanny Thompson, born 15 June, 1836, daughter of Robert Callander and Ann (Cochran) Thompson of Middletown, Guernsey

Co., Ohio. They reside at Falls Church, Fairfax Co., Va. [Gen. Wm. Thompson (the great-grandfather of Mrs. Ely) was the son of a member of Parliament. His mother was the Lady Grace, daughter of the Marquis of Hamilton. His father also was an officer in the British army. He was sent to America, and had command of the province of South Carolina, where he was killed some time before the Revolutionary war. Gen. Thompson was also in the British army. He married Catharine Ross, the daughter of an Episcopal clergyman in New Castle, Del. He received a silver medal from the city of Philadelphia for his bravery at the time of the Indian massacre at Kittaning. At the breaking out of the Revolutionary war, he threw up his commission in the king's army, and raised and equipped, at his own expense, one of the first Pennsylvania regiments that went into the field. On the 1 March, 1776, he was appointed a brigadier-general; and before he was taken prisoner at the battle of the Three Rivers in June, 1776, where he was in command, he received the personal thanks of Gen. Washington; also the thanks of Congress for his services. He died, prisoner-of-war, 3 Sept., 1781. Among some of his papers, in possession of Mrs. Ely, is the sale of Fort Hill, by the colony of Virginia, in 1774, to Gen. Thompson and his brother-in-law, Alexander Ross. It is probably the oldest written document in regard to Pittsburgh extant. George Thompson (grandfather of Mrs. Ely) was his eldest son. In 1796 he was commissioned one of the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas of Alleghany Co. He died 12 Jany., 18—. In 1786 he married Mary, daughter of Robert, Earl of Callander. She died June, 1853.]

James Edwards Wilson, born April, 1836, son of James and Eliza (Edwards) Wilson (476), came to America with his mother in 1844, and was placed with Rev. C. C. Beatty of Steubenville, a friend of his parents. Some time after, at the earnest request of his southern friends, he was placed under the care of his aunt, Mrs. Nisbet of Milledgeville, and there entered Midway College, where he remained until the final return of his parents from India in 1851. He then went to Hanover, Ind., where he completed his college course, and returned South. On the breaking out of the civil war he entered the Confederate army, and passed through those terrible years unhurt. After the war he settled at Yorkville, S. C., and edited there a paper, the "Yorkville Inquirer." About this time (1866) he married there Mary Williamson. He now lives in Nashville, Tenn., engaged in mercantile pursuits; is an elder in Presbyterian Church, and superintendent of Sunday School.

Luther Halsey Wilson, born 17 July, 1837, son of Rev. James and Eliza (Edwards) Wilson (476), was brought to America, 1844; educated partly at Hanover, Ind., but completed his classical course in East Tennessee University, after which he went to Princeton Theological Seminary, and finished his studies just as the war broke out; returned home (Knoxville, Tenn.), was licensed to preach, and took charge of a church in Madisonville, Tenn., until he entered the army as chaplain. It had always been his intention to return to India as a missionary under the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, but the way was closed. He was taken prisoner at the last battle of Petersburg and sent to Washington City with several other chaplains, after wards to Johnston's Island. After his return home he was called to a church in Southwest Georgia, where, in 1868, he married Mrs. Endora Harvey (whose husband had died when at Johnston's Island). For the past two years Rev. Mr. Wilson has been pastor of Yorkville Presbyterian Church, Yorkville, S. C.

John Lowrie Wilson, born 23 Feby., 1839, son of Rev. James and Eliza (Edwards) Wilson (476), came to America, 1844, and was left with his father's friends in Akron, Ohio; afterwards went to Steubenville to attend school with his brother; was partly educated at Hanover College, Ind., but completed his course at Clarkesville College, Tenn. He entered the army in 1863, and in the battle of Drury's Bluff, Va., lost a foot, and was carried to his aunt's home, near Augusta, Ga. When recovered he taught school several years at Bethesda, York Co., S. C., after which he entered the Theological Seminary at Columbia, S. C.; on finishing his course he received two calls, one from New Orleans, the other from Bethesda. To the latter he responded, and has been for eight years the beloved pastor of the old Bethesda Church, organized 109 years ago by a colony of Scotch Covenanters. [The history of this old church is an interesting one, and of its venerable burying ground one writes thus: "Like 'Old Mortality' I wandered among its tombs in the summer of 1877, spending nearly a whole day in endeavoring to decipher the many ancient inscriptions on its mildewed and blackened headstones. One—at least—dated back to 1765 when South Carolina was a colony of Great Britain. Old Bethesda is located in York District, about eight miles from Yorkville."] Mr. Wilson has been greatly blessed, not only by the regard of his people, but by large additions to his church yearly. At present date he is unmarried.

Joseph Henry Wilson, born 27 May, 1841, son of Rev. James and Eliza (Edwards) Wilson (476), was brought to America with his mother in 1844, but returned with her to India in 1846, where he stayed until his parents left the mission in 1851, and was educated at Clarkesville College, Tenn. He joined the army early in the war, and was with Gen. A. P. Hill in all his battles. After the war he became a teacher, and married, in 1874, Mary Hughes of Allensville, Kentucky. He is now the principal of a High School in Kentucky, and elder in the church to which he belongs. Mrs. Wilson died 1877.

Richard Somers Edwards, born 16 Jany., 1846, son of James C. Edwards (477) and Elizabeth (Hunt) Edwards, joined the Confederate army at 17 years of age, served two years in the Macon Light Artillery, and fell at his gun 2 April, 1865, before Petersburg, Va.; he fired the last gun of his battery, and was mortally wounded a few moments later. He died, it is supposed, at the Washington Street Hospital, 10 April, 1865; place of burial unknown. [He was named for a relative of both his father and mother—Capt. Richard Somers, son of Col. Somers of Philadelphia—who was young, brave, and daring, and lost his life in the harbor of Tripoli in connection with the burning of the "Philadelphia" by Decatur (1804). A man-of-war was afterwards named for Captain Somers, which was lost during the Mexican war. A fine monument may be seen in the grounds of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., bearing the record of his heroic achievements.]

Mary Elizabeth Walker, born Oct., 1831, daughter of Benjamin and Caroline (Edwards) Walker (479), was educated at Ravenswood, the home of her step-father, with his three sons; afterwards at Female College at Macon; then at Philadelphia; returning to Savannah in 1850. She married, July, 1853, John J. Martin, son of John Jacob Martin of Abbeville, S. C. J. J. Martin, Jun., was born Sept., 1824; completed his college course, and joining the Palmetto Regiment entered upon the Mexican war; returning from this campaign he was appointed Secretary of Legation to Peru, but declined. After marriage, he practised law in Georgia; afterwards removed his planting interest to Alabama, and settled, 1860, at Tuskagee in that State. Mr. Martin's firm Union sentiments prevented his taking part in the civil war, and he lived a quiet citizen's life until near its close in 1865. In 1866 he was appointed Judge of Probate, and held that position until, 1868, he was appointed Sixth Auditor of the U. S. Treasury Department under General Grant, the family removing to Washington. That situation he occupied six years, when accepting the position of Postmaster of Montgomery, Ala., He returned to that State, where they now reside.
